West German Anti-Semitic Furore Cited

Jewish Congress Assails Surging Power Of Krupp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Jewish Congress reported Friday that "serious and alarming" anti-Semitic incidents have been breaking out in West Germany.

At the same time, the organization in a detailed report assailed the resurging industrial power of Alfred Krupp, once jailed as a war criminal.

Accepts Copy

The West German ambassador, Wilhelm Grewe, accepted a copy of the 25,000-word report at a news conference he attended with Rabbi Joachim Prinz of Newark,N. J., president of the congress. The organization, which claims 300,000 members, seeks to stimulate the awareness of Jewish affairs.

Grewe praised the report as a valuable addition to similar studies made of anti-Semitism but he disagreed with the main theme—that anti-Jewish incidents are on the uprise in his homeland.

Grewe maintained that publicity about such incidents has increased but that actually the trend in West Germany has been against those who preach or are involved in anti-Semitism.

Assails Return

In assailing Krupp's return to German industrial life, the report said:

"Today, the small group of monopolists who helped Hitler to power, even those among them who were convicted and sentenced for crimes against humanity, are again doing business as usual.

"Today, while many people in the free world watch with serious misgivings, the Krupp industries roar again with production larger than before the war."

Panama Canal Zone Is Quiet; Papers Explain

PANAMA (AP) — The Panama Canal Zone border was quiet Friday and Panama's newspapers came up with a unanimous explanation of the anti-American violence that occurred there this week.

The papers said it stemmed from Panamanian resentment over American interpretation and application of treaties between the two countries.

Nationalist demonstrators clashed with U.S. troops Tuesday, Panaman's 56th anniversary of independence from Colombia. The U.S. Embassy was stoned and its flag was torn down.

Panama has consistently contended that the Canal Zone was ceded to the United States for specific purposes and, although under U.S. jurisdiction, the territory is Panamanian.

The dispute over sovereignty has been intensified by recent Panamanian accusations that the United States is not fulfilling provisions of the 1955 treaty giving Panamanians equal treatment and equal employment opportunities in the Canal Zone.

AF Defends ICBM Sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Friday upheld the practice of locating intercontinental ballistic missile sites in the general area of existing air bases.

It said this does not materially increase the danger that enemy attacks on those sites might endanger populations of cities in the general region.

A spokesman was asked about the protest of Dr. James E. McDonald, of the University of Arizona, against building ICBM launching sites near major population centers.

McDonald contends that this means creation of prime targets for enemy attack and that fallout from nuclear detonations in the attack would endanger the populations of cities in the areas.

Most of the ICBM bases are being built on or near existing airdromes—which already are targets. One reason is that the supplying and operation of the launching sites can be done from the central existing military bases.

In some instances, the land on which launching sites are being built already is owned or controlled by the Air Force as part of the existing base facilities.

Steel Product Imports Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imports of steel products from foreign mills increased 43,000 tons last month to 366,000 tons, the Commerce Department reported Friday.

This was well below the record 430,000 tons imported in July.

Since the steel strike began in mid-July, imports have accounted for nearly one quarter of the domestic supply.

UN Finds No Proof Laos Was Invaded

Group Discovers Rebels Got Aid From Communists

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A U.N. fact-finding group reported Friday it failed to uncover proof of charges by Laos that it had been invaded by Communist troops from North Viet Nam.

But the four-nation subcommittee told the U.N. Security Council it did discover evidence that rebels in the restive Asian kingdom had received equipment, arms, supplies and the help of political advisers from the Communist regime across the northern border.

The long-awaited report to the 11-nation Council had these immediate repercussions:

Considers Visit

1. A U.N. spokesman said Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold was considering making a visit to Laos, but it would have no connection with the report to the Council.

2. A spokesman for the U.S. delegation hailed the report as one that would "enable the Security Council to better understand the danger that confronts Laos." He said the United States was considering what additional steps might be taken in the United Nations "to further help the Laotian people maintain their freedom and independence."

3. The Soviet delegation declared the report caused the collapse, "like a card-castle, of the entire heap of absurd charges advanced by the Laotian government and by those who are pursuing it to hamstring the peaceful settlement" of the Asian kingdom's problems.

Have No Comment

4. Members of the Laotian delegation said they had no comment, but asserted the question of foreign in Laos' domestic affairs had been amply demonstrated in previous declarations of Laotian officials.

5. Ambassador Jorge Illueca of Panama, president of the Security Council, said consultations were taking place on the next step. The Council set up the subcommittee last Sept. 7 over Soviet objection.

The report submitted to the Council by the representatives of Argentina, Japan, Italy and Tunisia said the warfare in Laos from last July to Oct. 11 was of a guerrilla character, but appeared to have a centralized coordination.

French Lift Import Curbs

PARIS (AP) — France pledged itself Friday to end soon all forms of discrimination against goods from the dollar zone.

It thus lined itself with Great Britain, which earlier this week lifted import curbs on a long list of goods from the United States. Thursday,, France followed by lifting quotas on about 200 items.

Finance Minister Antoine Pinay, presenting the nation's 1960 budget in the National Assembly, promised to do more.

"U.S. aid permitted European recovery," he reminded the deputies. "Equity, if not gratitude, requires that all measures of discrimination—which only the difficult postwar situation of Europe justified—should end."

France, he promised, would remove all import quotas on industrial goods from the dollar zone and Europe. This would be done, he said, "in a time which should not, in principle, exceed two years."

He did not say that the lifting of quantative restrictions on imports would necessarily be accompanied by any slashing of tariff barriers but he said a general lowering of tariffs was a major preoccupation of the government.

The total national budget put expenditures at the equivalent of $13,060,000,000 and receipts at $11,840,000,000. The deficit will be made up by short-term loans, issue of treasury bonds and an estimated 5 per cent increase in next year's national production.

Soviet Begins Celebration Of 1917 Revolution

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union began a three-day celebration Friday of the 42nd anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution with emphasis on scientific progress, better living and peace.

Completely lacking were the attacks on imperialism and the martial spirit of past year.

The biggest show of enthusiasm at the rally came when speakers mentioned Soviet space accomplishments and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

All references to the United States were favorable and all were received favorably by the audience.

Factory Roof Collapses, Many Are Trapped

MONTREAL (UPI) — The almost-completed roof of a factory extension collapsed Friday in the east end of the city. Casualties were reported to be heavy.

First reports said a number of constructoon workers were killed and almost a score were injured.

Additional employes were feared to be still, inside the tangled pile of steel girders and brickwork of the plant, owned by surgical equipment manufacturers Johnson and Johnson.

The collapse took place in a one - story extension which was started during the summer. Nearby residents said the wing crumbled shortly after a fresh southwesterly breeze sprung up. Some gusts were recorded at 45 miles per hour.

Officials of the construction company checked their rosters to determine who was working on the job at the time of the accident.

At least 50 workers were believed to be employed on the project.

All available police were rushed to the scene to direct rescue operations and keep crowds away.

Union Waits For Verdict

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Steelworkers Union and the strikebound industry watched and waited Friday while the Supreme Court continued to weigh the legality of a back-to-work order.

One small firm — the Laclede Steel Co. of Southern Illinois — reached a tentative agreement with the union.

But otherwise there were no discussions between the union and the industry it has kept shut down for 115 days.

The Supreme Court's nine justices conferred in secret for seven hours, but made no announcement of when a decision might come in the steel case.

There was no word when the court would hand down its ruling on a union appeal from the back-to-work order issued by a U. S. District Court Judge in Pittsburgh.

Murder Trial Set For Dec. 1

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff will be tried for murder and conspiracy starting Dec. 1 in Los Angeles.

The date for their trial was set Friday as a change of venue was granted, shifting the scene from Pomona.

Search Continues For Missing Fliers

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Thirty-five planes continued a vast search over the Gulf of Mexico Friday for three Air Force fliers missing since they parachuted from a crashing B-47 jet bomber Wednesday. There was little hope that they would be found alive.

Missing were Maj. Morris O. Beck, 38, Amarillo, Tex.; 1st Lt. George W. Eggleston, Charleston, W. Va., T.Sgt. Norman W. Ruwe, 38, Lake Park, Iowa.

Construction Cave-In

Firemen and rescue workers scramble around debris that was left in the wake of a construction collapse. The workers were pouring fresh cement when the forms gave way and tons of steel and wet cement fell on top of at least five men. At least five are believed dead and scores were injured. Bandit Decoys Police, Stages Robbery Parade

VAN NUYS, Calif., (AP)—Police vainly searched Friday for a bandit who used a decoy robbery to catch them off base and then boldly staged a robbery parade.

Half a dozen victims trailed along with the handsome young gunman, induced to join the party by muttered threats. Each holdup, in turn, added to the procession.

Raking in the loot, at the point of a gun, was an unwilling merchant who was the first donor for the paper sack.

The 20-minute holdup onslaught took place just three blocks down the street from Albert Neff's department store, where police were seeking clues to a $237 robbery minutes earlier.

The Neff holdup was staged by the same gunman, police said.

First on the second go-round was a women's fashion shop. The robber took $1,015 and recruited Manager Morris S. Cohen to carry the loot. Clerk Rose Schaefer went along.

From a toy store next door came $238 and another clerk, Miss Janet Bader. Then they dropped in on a children's clothing store to pick up $450 and invite Manager Martin Brokowitz and clerk Doris Clancy to join the entourage.

The gunman didn't bother with the next store. "Too many customers," he said.

They trouped to a nearby parklot where the bandit announced: "All of you keep walking or I'll kill you."

Then he dropped out of the parade in a hurry. Police said he hasn't been seen since.

Churchill Prefers Good Champagne

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill has dined at the Hotel Savoy five times in the last 15 nights—because he likes the champagne there.

Sir Winston—who will be 85 this month—is regarded as one of Britain's connoisseurs of champagne. He's so fastidious about his bubbly that when he goes to stay with friends he takes his own brand.

Missing Coin Causes Suicides

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—Police think a farmer's wife and her adopted daughter may have committed suicide over a missing coin worth 28 cents. They said the daughter swallowed poison after her mother accused her of taking a 100-yen piece. Later the grief-stricken mother jumped into a well.

Girl Glad Secret Masquerade Ended

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Barbara Ann Malpass, who is 20 and has a wide, toothy smile, said Friday she's glad people found out she's a girl — not a boy.

"I don't want to think about that boy part anymore," she said.

Through some 25 states and at least four jails since leaving home at Glenmount, N.Y., near Albany, Barbara Ann masqueraded as a boy with a ducktail haircut.

As Charles Williams, aged 16, she spent 37 days in this foothills town west of Denver, then five weeks more in the home of a deputy sheriff and his wife before the suspicious officer got her to admit her identity.

The deputy, Sam Teague, before learning she was a girl, had a barber cut her hair short.

"They were going to put a boy in my cell, but I started a fight right away and they separated us," she said.

A desire to see the West made her leave home last April after yelling to her mother, Mrs. Albert Malpass, "Mom, I'm going. I've just got to go."

"I decided to dress as a boy," Barbara said. "I felt it would solve lots of problems and keep me out of trouble because I didn't have much money and I knew I would be doing some hitchhiking."

She spent some time in jail at Fremont, Ohio; Anderson, Ind., and Omaha, Neb., she said, before being picked up here for hitchhiking.

When she was told she might be given psychiatric help, the girl said she doesn't need it.

"I have no desire to be a boy," she said. "Now that it's behind me I want to get a job—a woman's job—and show all of these people that they have not misplaced their faith in believing in me."

Teague and his wife said Barbara seems to have talent as an artist.

Her mother said Friday that Barbara "is a very mixed-up girl. She wanted to draw and paint after she graduated from high school. But she couldn't find that kind of work in the Albany district."

Malpass, who runs a carpet business, mused:

"Barbara's trouble is that she's almost too clever. She's a good artist and she had no outlet."

Mrs. Malpass continued:

"Her parents and her sisters and her brother would be delighted if she returned...If she wants to...If she is really happier where she is we will agree to her staying there..."

Recovers From Lung Cancer

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Seven months ago Joseph W. Mayerle, 37, was sent home from the hospital believed doomed by lung cancer. "We figured he would die within a few weeks," one physician aid.

Friday, all trace of the cancer has disappeared, the doctor reported.

The same physician said "we got real excited" when Mayerle, given up as a hopeless case, walked into the U.S. Veterans Administration Hospital in Seattle a few weeks ago "looking like a new man."

The doctors do not say that Joe might not have a recurrence of cancer. "It take at least five years to be reasonably sure," the physician said.

Mayerle thought he had a bad cold last winter, went to his doctor "for a shot of something that would help," and wound up on the operating table at the Veterans Hospital. He was a Navy Man in World War II.

"They operated in March and the lung was so bad they could not take it out," said Mayerle. "They sewed me up and gave me X-ray treatments for four weeks. The doctors had told me it looked hopeless and said the X-rays couldn't begin to clear it up—just make me feel better."

Joe, whose family has increased by the arrival of Joe Jr., three weeks ago, has no idea why he got well.

Harris Ends Quiz Probe With Request

CBS Official Says Legislation Isn't Cure-All For Ills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), turning off a House investigation of quiz show rigging, said Friday Congress should pass new laws to assure program honesty and take a hard look at other channels of television activity.

"Millions of Americans have been tricked, deceived and duped by what was nothing more than a sordid commercial scheme," Harris said in closing his House Commerce subcommittee's hearings on the quizzes.

He has heard enough about this type of rigging, Harris said, but recently developed leads which indicate other video practices require investigation.

"And we intend to give them such scrutiny," Harris said.

Ready To Help

Stanton said CBS is ready to help formulate new legislation aimed at deceit. But he repeatedly opposed any action resembling censorship.

"We believe that legislation is no cure-all for these ills and that the primary responsibility lies with the broadcasting industry itself," he said.

"CBS is moving forward in that conviction," Stanton said after announcing his network will issue general rules to assure that its TV programs are exactly what they appear to be.

Stanton defended his course of action at the time rumors of quiz show fixing first became current last year, although he conceded that "with benefit of hindsight, it is now clear that I should have gone further."

"I was completely unaware until Aug. 8, 1958," he said, "of any irregularity in the quiz shows of our network." On that date, Stanton continued, explicit charges of fixing on one independently produced program were brought to his attention.

Supporting Evidence

"Sufficient supporting evidence was found within a week," he continued, "and the program was thrown off the air. Within six months, we had moved against three other quiz shows."

Harris did not say just what other areas his investigators would explore. While watching the quiz scandals unfold, they have also heard views critical of name-dropping plugs for one business on another sponsor's program, of the reliability and significance of program popularity ratings, of some types of commercials and of sponsors' influence on what television beams into American homes.

One fresh charge of skullduggery emerged at the windup of the quiz show hearings. Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex) said the Federal Communications Commission had received complaints about "The Big Payoff," a daytime show, as far back as 1952.

Rogers had copies of an exchange of letters, in one of which the FCC mentioned a complaint

Ship's Steward Had Wife At Each End Of His Run

LONDON (AP)—Ship's steward Joe Harden had all the comforts of home on both ends of the South American run—a wife in London, a wife in Buenos Aires.

When his ship docked in a London mist, the English wife, Rose, had his slippers waiting by the fire. When he went ashore in Buenos Aires, Rita Catalina Montiveros—Senora Harden to the neighbors—cooked him exotic local dishes such as he never tasted in an English kitchen.

Supporting two households and two wives was naturally expensive. But for a 48-year-old steward, it was an idyllic situation turned sour only when a letter from the Argentinian wife was intercepted by the English wife.

Within the forbidding walls of the Old Bailey Courthouse Friday, the story of Joe's colorful romance was unfolded.

Joe was charged with bigamy.

"Harden was married in England in 1932," said the prosecutor, Mervyn Griffith-Jones. "In 1953, he met a Miss Rita Catalina Montiveros in Buenos Aires, courted her and told her he was single.

"He was never intimate with her on account of her religion. But in July 1958, he went through a form of marriage with her. From then on, they lived as man and wife when he was in South America and he continued to live with his lawful wife when he was in England."

The prosecutor explained this state of affairs might have gone on unchecked had not Joe arranged last September for Miss Montiveros to visit England.

"She wrote him a letter which was sent to his home address and was opened by his wife. Thus the matter came to light," said the lawyer.

The defense attorney said Miss Montiveros—now in England—was willing to stand by Joe.

Joe said very little except to plead guilty. He was convicted but allowed to go without penalty on condition that he mend his ways. One condition was that he avoid bigamous marriages in future.

The court was told he is now living with Rita in London—"although they occupy separate bedrooms." Joe's English wife has said she will seek a legal separation.

32 Mountain Climbers Vanish In Avalanches

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Thirty-two persons — three Japanese alpinists and 29 Nepalese porters—have vanished in an attempt to climb the forbidding face of Mt. Gauri Sankar.

Two runners brought word Friday that the expedition disappeared in mid-October, when avalanches swept the Himalayas in the region of that 23,340-foot peak, and no trace has been found in a three-week hunt.

Premier B. P. Koirala ordered all soldiers and guides in the area to carry on the search.

The 32 men were last reported camped at the 20,000-foot level and cut off by blizzards from a supply base 2,000 feet below them.

Avalanches about the same time carried away two women of an all-woman climbing expedition on Mt. Cho Oyu, farther west.

Two themes dominated speculation here:

1. The entire expedition may have been buried by avalanches on Gauri Sankar, which marks the frontier of Nepal and Tibet about 35 miles west of 29,002-foot Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain.

2. The men, finding tough going on the Nepalese slopes that experts have described as unclimbable, may have tried the Tibetan side and been arrested by Red Chinese troops.

One of the women lost on Mt. Cho Oyu, Mrs. Claude Kogan of France, declared in 1956 that Mt. Gauri Sankar could not be climbed from the Nepalese side, though it possibly could be from the Tibetan side.

France, he promised, would remove all import quotas on industrial goods from the dollar zone and Europe. This would be done, he said, "in a time which should not, in principle, exceed two years."

He did not say that the lifting of quantative restrictions on imports would necessarily be accompanied by any slashing of tariff barriers but he said a general lowering of tariffs was a major preoccupation of the government.

The total national budget put expenditures at the equivalent of $13,060,000,000 and receipts at $11,840,000,000. The deficit will be be made up by short-term loans, issue of treasury bonds and an estimated 5 per cent increase in next year's national production.

Soviet Begins Celebration Of 1917 Revolution

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union began a three-day celebration Friday of the 42nd anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution with emphasis on scientific progress, better living and peace.

Completely lacking were the attacks on imperialism and the martial spirit of past year.

The biggest show of enthusiasm at the rally came when speakers mentioned Soviet space accomplishments and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

All references to the United States were favorable and all were received favorably by the audience.

Factory Roof Collapses, Many Are Trapped

MONTREAL (UPI) — The almost-completed roof of a factory extension collapsed Friday in the east end of the city. Casualties were reported to be heavy.

First reports said a number of constructoon workers were killed and almost a score were injured.

Additional employes were feared to be still, inside the tangled pile of steel girders and brickwork of the plant, owned by surgical equipment manufacturers Johnson and Johnson.

The collapse took place in a one - story extension which was started during the summer. Nearby residents said the wing crumbled shortly after a fresh southwesterly breeze sprung up. Some gusts were recorded at 45 miles per hour.

Officials of the construction company checked their rosters to determine who was working on the job at the time of the accident.

At least 50 workers were believed to be employed on the project.

All available police were rushed to the scene to direct rescue operations and keep crowds away.

Union Waits For Verdict

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Steelworkers Union and the strike-bound industry watched and waited Friday while the Supreme Court continued to weigh the legality of a back-to-work order.

One small firm — the Laclede Steel Co. of Southern Illinois — reached a tentative agreement with the union.

But otherwise there were no discussions between the union and the industry it has kept shut down for 115 days.

The Supreme Court's nine justices conferred in secret for seven hours, but made no announcement of when a decision might come in the steel case.

There was no word when the court would hand down its ruling on a union appeal from the back-to-work order issued by a U. S. District Court Judge in Pittsburgh.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff will be tried for murder and conspiracy starting Dec. 1 in Los Angeles.

The date for their trial was set Friday as a change of venue was granted, shifting the scene from Pomona.

Search Continues For Missing Fliers

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Thirty-five planes continued a vast search over the Gulf of Mexico Friday for three Air Force fliers missing since they parachuted from a crashing B-47 jet bomber Wednesday. There was little hope that they would be found alive.

Missing were Maj. Morris O. Beck, 38, Amarillo, Tex.; 1st Lt. George W. Eggleston, Charleston, W. Va., T.Sgt. Norman W. Ruwe, 38, Lake Park, Iowa.

Bandit Decoys Police, Stages Robbery Parade

VAN NUYS, Calif., (AP)—Police vainly searched Friday for a bandit who used a decoy robbery to catch them off base and then boldly staged a robbery parade.

Half a dozen victims trailed along with the handsome young gunman, induced to join the party by muttered threats. Each holdup, in turn, added to the procession.

Raking in the loot, at the point of a gun, was an unwilling merchant who was the first donor for the paper sack.

The 20-minute holdup onslaught took place just three blocks down the street from Albert Neff's department store, where police were seeking clues to a $237 robbery minutes earlier.

The Neff holdup was staged by the same gunman, police said.

First on the second go-round was a women's fashion shop. The robber took $1,015 and recruited Manager Morris S. Cohen to carry the loot. Clerk Rose Schaefer went along.

From a toy store next door came $238 and another clerk, Miss Janet Bader. Then they dropped in on a children's clothing store to pick up $450 and invite Manager Martin Brokowitz and clerk Doris Clancy to join the entourage.

The gunman didn't bother with the next store. "Too many customers," he said.

They trouped to a nearby parklot where the bandit announced: "All of you keep walking or I'll kill you."

Then he dropped out of the parade in a hurry. Police said he hasn't been seen since.

Churchill Prefers Good Champagne

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill has dined at the Hotel Savoy five times in the last 15 nights—because he likes the champagne there.

Sir Winston—who will be 85 this month—is regarded as one of Britain's connoisseurs of champagne. He's so fastidious about his bubbly that when he goes to stay with friends he takes his own brand.

Missing Coin Causes Suicides

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—Police think a farmer's wife and her adopted daughter may have committed suicide over a missing coin worth 28 cents. They said the daughter swallowed poison after her mother accused her of taking a 100-yen piece. Later the grief-stricken mother jumped into a well.

Girl Glad Secret Masquerade Ended

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Barbara Ann Malpass, who is 20 and has a wide, toothy smile, said Friday she's glad people found out she's a girl — not a boy.

"I don't want to think about that boy part anymore," she said.

Through some 25 states and at least four jails since leaving home at Glenmount, N.Y., near Albany, Barbara Ann masqueraded as a boy with a ducktail haircut.

As Charles Williams, aged 16, she spent 37 days in this foothills town west of Denver, then five weeks more in the home of a deputy sheriff and his wife before the suspicious officer got her to admit her identity.

The deputy, Sam Teague, before learning she was a girl, had a barber cut her hair short.

"They were going to put a boy in my cell, but I started a fight right away and they separated us," she said.

A desire to see the West made her leave home last April after yelling to her mother, Mrs. Albert Malpass, "Mom, I'm going. I've just got to go."

"I decided to dress as a boy," Barbara said. "I felt it would solve lots of problems and keep me out of trouble because I didn't have much money and I knew I would be doing some hitchhiking."

She spent some time in jail at Fremont, Ohio; Anderson, Ind., and Omaha, Neb., she said, before being picked up here for hitchhiking.

When she was told she might be given psychiatric help, the girl said she doesn't need it.

"I have no desire to be a boy," she said. "Now that it's behind me I want to get a job—a woman's job—and show all of these people that they have not misplaced their faith in believing in me."

Teague and his wife said Barbara seems to have talent as an artist.

Her mother said Friday that Barbara "is a very mixed-up girl. She wanted to draw and paint after she graduated from high school. But she couldn't find that kind of work in the Albany district."

Malpass, who runs a carpet business, mused:

Mrs. Malpass continued:

"Her parents and her sisters and her brother would be delighted if she returned...If she wants to...If she is really happier where she is we will agree to her staying there..."

Recovers From Lung Cancer

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Seven months ago Joseph W. Mayerle, 37, was sent home from the hospital believed doomed by lung cancer. "We figured he would die within a few weeks," one physician aid.

Friday, all trace of the cancer has disappeared, the doctor reported.

The same physician said "we got real excited" when Mayerle, given up as a hopeless case, walked into the U.S. Veterans Administration Hospital in Seattle a few weeks ago "looking like a new man."

The doctors do not say that Joe might not have a recurrence of cancer. "It take at least five years to be reasonably sure," the physician said.

Mayerle thought he had a bad cold last winter, went to his doctor "for a shot of something that would help," and wound up on the operating table at the Veterans Hospital. He was a Navy Man in World War II.

"They operated in March and the lung was so bad they could not take it out," said Mayerle. "They sewed me up and gave me X-ray treatments for four weeks. The doctors had told me it looked hopeless and said the X-rays couldn't begin to clear it up—just make me feel better."

Joe, whose family has increased by the arrival of Joe Jr., three weeks ago, has no idea why he got well.

Harris Ends Quiz Probe With Request

CBS Official Says Legislation Isn't Cure-All For Ills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), turning off a House investigation of quiz show rigging, said Friday Congress should pass new laws to assure program honesty and take a hard look at other channels of television activity.

"Millions of Americans have been tricked, deceived and duped by what was nothing more than a sordid commercial scheme," Harris said in closing his House Commerce subcommittee's hearings on the quizzes.

He has heard enough about this type of rigging, Harris said, but recently developed leads which indicate other video practices require investigation.

"And we intend to give them such scrutiny," Harris said.

Ready To Help

Stanton said CBS is ready to help formulate new legislation aimed at deceit. But he repeatedly opposed any action resembling censorship.

"We believe that legislation is no cure-all for these ills and that the primary responsibility lies with the broadcasting industry itself," he said.

"CBS is moving forward in that conviction," Stanton said after announcing his network will issue general rules to assure that its TV programs are exactly what they appear to be.

Stanton defended his course of action at the time rumors of quiz show fixing first became current last year, although he conceded that "with benefit of hindsight, it is now clear that I should have gone further."

"I was completely unaware until Aug. 8, 1958," he said, "of any irregularity in the quiz shows of our network." On that date, Stanton continued, explicit charges of fixing on one independently produced program were brought to his attention.

Supporting Evidence

"Sufficient supporting evidence was found within a week," he continued, "and the program was thrown off the air. Within six months, we had moved against three other quiz shows."

Harris did not say just what other areas his investigators would explore. While watching the quiz scandals unfold, they have also heard views critical of name-dropping plugs for one business on another sponsor's program, of the reliability and significance of program popularity ratings, of some types of commercials and of sponsors' influence on what television beams into American homes.

One fresh charge of skullduggery emerged at the windup of the quiz show hearings. Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex) said the Federal Communications Commission had received complaints about "The Big Payoff," a daytime show, as far back as 1952.

Rogers had copies of an exchange of letters, in one of which the FCC mentioned a complaint

Ship's Steward Had Wife At Each End Of His Run

LONDON (AP)—Ship's steward Joe Harden had all the comforts of home on both ends of the South American run—a wife in London, a wife in Buenos Aires.

When his ship docked in a London mist, the English wife, Rose, had his slippers waiting by the fire. When he went ashore in Buenos Aires, Rita Catalina Montiveros—Senora Harden to the neighbors—cooked him exotic local dishes such as he never tasted in an English kitchen.

Supporting two households and two wives was naturally expensive. But for a 48-year-old steward, it was an idyllic situation turned sour only when a letter from the Argentinian wife was intercepted by the English wife.

Within the forbidding walls of the Old Bailey Courthouse Friday, the story of Joe's colorful romance was unfolded.

Joe was charged with bigamy.

"Harden was married in England in 1932," said the prosecutor, Mervyn Griffith-Jones. "In 1953, he met a Miss Rita Catalina Montiveros in Buenos Aires, courted her and told her he was single.

"He was never intimate with her on account of her religion. But in July 1958, he went through a form of marriage with her. From then on, they lived as man and wife when he was in South America and he continued to live with his lawful wife when he was in England."

The prosecutor explained this state of affairs might have gone on unchecked had not Joe arranged last September for Miss Montiveros to visit England.

"She wrote him a letter which was sent to his home address and was opened by his wife. Thus the matter came to light," said the lawyer.

The defense attorney said Miss Montiveros—now in England—was willing to stand by Joe.

Joe said very little except to plead guilty. He was convicted but allowed to go without penalty on condition that he mend his ways. One condition was that he avoid bigamous marriages in future.

The court was told he is now living with Rita in London—"although they occupy separate bedrooms." Joe's English wife has said she will seek a legal separation.

British Mother Finds Way To Give Baby Away

TIMPERLEY, England (UPI)—A British mother who wants to give Americans her unborn child said Friday she has found loopholes in the law which would make such a move possible.

Mrs. Sheila Winkley, 37, said she had talked with her lawyer about possible legal difficulties in offering her unborn child to a "nice American" couple.

"I have heard that any American couple would have to stay with the child for not less than six months before they could adopt it," she said. "They would also have to get viases to take the child to America and have to provide proof to an American court that they were suitable parents.

"We have found a loophole in these difficulties," she said. "I am not saying anything because if the authorities know what we are doing they may jump in and stop us."

Mrs. Winkley said she had received two cabled offers from American couples. They came from Mr. and Mrs. May Thurn, of Crestview, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Gootfried Peakma, of Kent, Wash., she said.

Mrs. Winkley, who gave away two of her children previously because she "just doesn't like the trouble connected with babies," said she had received another telegram today from the United States. She declined to reveal the sender.

"I've gotten about a dozen of the usual nasty letters," she said. "People say it is a terrible thing to give a baby away.

"But when you read the letters asking to adopt the child it makes you think it is worth while. I wish I had more to give away because it is helping them."

Unemployment Rises Sharply

BALTIMORE (AP) — The number of Marylanders laid off as a secondary effect of the nationwide steel strike rose by 10 per cent during the week ended last Wednesday, state officials reported Friday.

A spokesman for the Department of Employment Security said the total of such furloughed employes rose to 9,856 — an increase of 895 over the previous week. All of the additional layoffs came in the Baltimore Metropolitan area and the statewide total includes only 496 outside the area, the department said.

The 115-day-old strike, said the spokesman, has now resulted in layoffs in such steel-dependent Maryland industries as ship repair, electrical household appliance manufacturing, railroading, motor freight, transportation equipment manufacturing, fabricated metals, construction, lumber and wood products, and stone, clay, and glass products.

Petrou To Make Plea Next Week On Murder Count

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Chicago convict Nick Petrou, who has been in a lot of big trouble in his 54 years, probably will make his plea next week to indictments for the murder of two Clarksburg women in 1955.

A new term of Harrison County Criminal Court begins here Tuesday. The days for taking pleas probably will be the following Friday and Saturday.

Prosecutor Robert B. Ziegler intends to have Petrou tried at the same court term, in the event he pleads innocent. However, Chicago police said last March that Petrou admitted shooting the two women.

Police never got a solid lead to the killer or killers until last January. Then Petrou, who once served 18 years in prison for killing a Chicago policeman in a holdup in the 1930s, got into more trouble and his ex-wife blew the whistle on him in the Clarksburg case.

Offers Reward For Proof Of Quiz "Fixing"

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — A former Buffalo, N.Y., taxicab driver who won $100,000 on two televised quiz shows offered $1,000 Friday to anyone who could prove he was on any "fixed" program.

The man, Tom Kane, won his money in 1957 and 1958 on "The $64,000 Question" and "The $64,000 Challenge"

Irish-born Kane, 52-year-old English language expert, said it bothered him that area residents who don't know him personally "believe I was part of this deceit."

He said it would be timely now if the television producers "who were in on the fixes came out with a list of the genuine winners, the people who didn't need the answers."

Man Gets Year For Possession Of Moonshine

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 40-year-old Cecil County man, injured in an auto crash while attempting to flee federal agents, was sentenced to one year in prison Friday for possessing 120 gallons of moonshine whisky.

William L. Richards of Rising Sun, stepfather of six children, pleaded guilty to charges of concealing and transporting the liquor in his car last Sept. 3.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, noting Richards' two previous convictions on illegal whisky charges, imposed the sentence. He said Richards would be sent to the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., where medical facilities are available to treat his injuries.

The judge was told the defendant, who appeared in court on crutches, suffered a fractured hip and a broken jaw when his car crashed. Richards spent 20 days in a hospital and his attorney said he would not be able to resume work for four months.

John R. Hargrove, deputy U.S. attorney, said Richards turned off the lights on his car when federal tax agents spotted his car loaded with whisky on Maryland 272, about a half mile south of Calvert, Cecil County. The crash occurred at a curve on a back road.

The defense said Richards purchased the whisky at a Pennsylvania still for resale in Cecil County.

Petition Denied For Appeal Costs

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A 33-year-old Baltimore sandwich shop operator was denied a petition Friday to have the State pay the cost of his appeal from a grand larceny conviction.

Chief Judge W. Laird Henry denied the request in Dorchester County Circuit Court after saying he wasn't satisfied that Stephanos Glaros was unable to raise the money.

Glaros was convicted of grand larceny Oct. 2 in connection with the theft of $155,000 from a general store in Wingate. He was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

His attorneys filed an appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals on Oct. 15 and, at the same time, Glaros filed a pauper's oath stating that he had no money to pay for the appeal.

At the time, "The Big Payoff" was carried on the National Broadcasting Co. network. It moved to CBS in March 1953 but was dropped several weeks ago.

The FCC told the subcommittee last month it has only dubious authority to crack down on quiz shows without getting into the field of censorship.

College Prexy Refuses Pleas For Van Doren

Senior Lloyd Moglen, one of the leaders in getting up a petition of 650 students, mostly undergraduates, charged that Van Doren had been made the scapegoat of the quiz investigation because of his prominent literary name.

Moglen said he favored rehiring Van Doren despite the fact that he lied when he told a congressional committee by telegram and a grand jury in person that he had never received help in winning $129,000 on "21." Van Doren later confessed before the House committee.

"I'm a big enough boy to realize we all do a lot of lying," said Moglen. "It's too bad he (Van Doren) had to do it in front of 100 million people."

The university's Board of Trustees accepted Van Doren's resignation offer "immediately" last Monday shortly after he confessed the hoax to House investigators.

Two undergraduate students presented the petition to Kirk. They declined later to disclose what he had told them.

However, the university announced: "Dr. Kirk told the students that the matter of the resignation had received careful and deliberate consideration, that the case is now closed, and that there would be no further comment."

Hearing Set In Shooting

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A preliminary hearing has been scheduled for Monday in the case of Leon Thomas, 31, charged with the fatal shooting of Everett Easton.

Easton, a 34-year-old laborer, was shot Thursday night while arguing with his estranged wife and another man, police reported.

Detective Sgt. John F. Wilding said Easton was shot in the chest. The shooting, he said, occurred in Mrs. Easton's home in nearby Croom.

Wilding said he was told that Easton shot first with a .32 caliber revolver and that Thomas then returned the fire with a .22 caliber gun.

Thomas was jailed pending the preliminary hearing.

Nixon Campaign Opens In N. H.

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—A campaign to draft Vice President Richard Nixon to run for the Republican presidential nomination was launched Friday in New Hampshire.

Members of the "Nixon-for-President" planning board include Sens. Styles Bridges and Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) and former Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

This is the first official public drive to draft Nixon for the presidency. A "draft Rockefeller" movement has been in operation throughout New Hampshire for more than a month.

New Hampshire holds the first-in-the-nation presidential primary March 8th. Nixon is expected to enter this primary. Rockefeller may enter it.

State Forms New Plan To Save Accidents

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland officials have come up with a new plan to minimize the danger and traffic congestion resulting from ice-slicked stretches of highway.

Developed by the State Roads Commission in cooperation with State Police, the scheme calls for the installation of "Icy Road" signs at exceptionally dangerous spots. The signs will have flashing lights for ready identification from greater distances and will be cleared of obscuring snow by SRC personnel or police.

John B. Funk, SRC chairman, said road maintenance personnel also will be on emergency call to salt or cinder the slick spots upon short notice. Roadside telephone booths will be posted with the numbers of the nearest State Police barracks.

Four Killed In Car Crash

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (UPI)— A speeding car slammed into a bridge near here early Friday, and four of the five occupants were killed.

The only survivor was two-year old Stanley Morris, Jr. He was reported in fair condition at Maury County Hospital. His parents, a brother and another occupant of the car died instantly.

"The car was going too fast, and the driver apparently was too tired to be driving," highway patrol Sgt. Laten Mullins said.

Mullins identified the dead as Stanley Morris, 36, of Tallassee, Ala., his wife, 32, and a son, Dale, 7. William Rhea, 35, Tuskegee, Ala., also died.

Morris had a job as an iron foundry worker at Muncie, Ind., and Sgt. Mullins said the group apparently was on its way to Muncie when the accident occurred before dawn.

Income Taxes Showing Effects Of Steel Strike

The total income tax receipts, however, were still higher last month than in October 1958, $6,247,334 compared to $4,726,782.

More than 5 million dollars of the October revenue represented employer withholding collections for the third quarter of 1959.

Goldstein said his office compared the third-quarter withholding tax of the state's largest steel firm to its second-quarter withholdings and found the third-quarter revenue was nearly a half million dollars less than received for the second quarter.

Smith To Seek W.Va. Governorship

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Hulett C. Smith of Beckley, Democratic state chairman, announced Friday night his intention to file for the gubernatorial primary.

His announcement came three days after a similar one by Atty. Gen. W.W. Barron, also a Democrat. No Republican has announced for governor.

Reporter Feels Russia Fears U.S. Military

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A military affairs reporter said Friday he is convinced Russia is as fearful of the United States as this nation is of Russia, in a military way.

C. Yates McDaniel pointed out, however, the Soviet leaders are more fearful of personal contacts among peoples of the two great powers.

McDaniel, who covers the Pentagon for the Associated Press, spoke at a meeting of the Cambridge Women's Club.

He said the session at Camp David with President Eisenhower had convinced Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the U. S. would not strike the first blow in a war.

The speaker advocated more exchange visits between Russia and the U.S. but cautioned that this nation should beware of any Soviet "soft soaping."

McDaniel declared it would be a mistake for the United Nations to admit Red China to membership. The Communist regime there must be made to learn its lessons for past and present transgressions, he said, and UN recognition would only bolster the present arrogant leadership.

McDaniel also told the women the United States should be more careful in the way it hands out foreign aid. You can't buy off nations, he said, and pointed to Cuba as one example.

Court Convicts Forrester Of Malfeasance

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence O. Forrester, suspended police rackets squad commander, was convicted Friday of malfeasance in office by lying to lift probation restrictions for a convicted prostitute and helping her in acts of prostitution and adultery.

The 55-year-old defendant, who denied the charges during a five-day trial last week, listened impassively as Judge Edwin Harlan read his verdict in criminal Court.

Sentence was withheld pending a motion for a new trial, which defense attorney Bernard J. Flynn said he will file. The crime is a common-law offense which carries no prescribed sentence.

State's Atty. Saul A. Harris said the decision meant proceedings would be started for the trial on similar charges of Hyman Goldstein, former acting captain of the rackets squad. Goldstein is now serving a three-year House of Correction term on a conviction of inducing two sergeants to give false testimony in a gambling case.

Forrester also was convicted in the subornation-of-perjury case, but the conviction was later overthrown and the charge was dropped.

Forrester, Goldstein and Albert Weinstein, a taxicab firm official are also charged with maintaining a disorderly house in connection with the activities of the same prostitute, Phyllis Wright.

The woman was a key State's witness at the trial, during which Forrester testified that he had merely sought to use her as an informant in the unsolved 1952 gangland-style slaying of Anthony Messina. He insisted, despite the woman's statement that he had been intimate with her "many times," that he was trying to win her confidence.

Forrester said the charges against him resulted from an attempt by underworld figures to discredit him and have him thrown off the force.

Conflicting testimony in the case also included a statement by Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron that he told Forrester "to hell with the Messina case" and to stop seeing Miss Wright, and a statement by former Chief Inspector Fred Ford that Hepbron told him Forrester's contact in the case was "wonderful news."

Forrester's daughter and wife sat through most of the trial and were present when the verdict was handed down.

Boat Plant Workers Strike

Union agent Gardner Harris said the vote was taken after the company offered a wage increase of six to eight cents an hour, depending on the worker's skill, and the union reduced its demands from 15 to 10 cents an hour.

Harris said hourly wages from $1.16 to $2.04.

Blind Lovers On Trial For Blind Man's Death

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France (AP)—Anna Barbini and Maximilien Levesque, blind lovers went on trial Friday for the murder of Anna's blind husband, Albert, 50.

As the blind pair was led by gendarmes into the prisoner's booth, a spectator in the packed courtroom cried out "To death." There was a murmur from the crowd and the man who had cried out was led away by police.

A functionary read the facts of the case as determined by a pretrial investigation. This statement said Anna, 45, and her 24-year-old lover carried out premeditated murder of the husband [illegible] night of Aug. 13, 1957, with Anna doing the plotting and Levesque the murder.

Levesque has already admitted he shot and bludgeoned Anna's husband but claims he did it to protect her. His story is that Anna and Albert had quarreled after an attempted reconciliation and Levesque thought Albert was trying to strangle her.

Under questioning by the presiding judge Levesque said he had been blind from birth.

He smiled only once during the questioning. That was when he said, "I entered a school for the blind in 1955. I had the pleasure of meeting Anna there and she became my friend."

When Anna's turn came, she told the court her husband had mistreated her for years but that because she was blind she had been afraid to leave him.

Then she met Levesque and he became, in the words of the court statement, "all her reason for living."

British Mother Finds Way To Give Baby Away

TIMPERLEY, England (UPI)—A British mother who wants to give Americans her unborn child said Friday she has found loopholes in the law which would make such a move possible.

Mrs. Sheila Winkley, 37, said she had talked with her lawyer about possible legal difficulties in offering her unborn child to a "nice American" couple.

"I have heard that any American couple would have to stay with the child for not less than six months before they could adopt it," she said. "They would also have to get viases to take the child to America and have to provide proof to an American court that they were suitable parents.

"We have found a loophole in these difficulties," she said. "I am not saying anything because if the authorities know what we are doing they may jump in and stop us."

Mrs. Winkley said she had received two cabled offers from American couples. They came from Mr. and Mrs. May Thurn, of Crestview, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Gootfried Peakma, of Kent, Wash., she said.

Mrs. Winkley, who gave away two of her children previously because she "just doesn't like the trouble connected with babies," said she had received another telegram today from the United States. She declined to reveal the sender.

"I've gotten about a dozen of the usual nasty letters," she said. "People say it is a terrible thing to give a baby away.

"But when you read the letters asking to adopt the child it makes you think it is worth while. I wish I had more to give away because it is helping them."

Unemployment Rises Sharply

BALTIMORE (AP) — The number of Marylanders laid off as a secondary effect of the nationwide steel strike rose by 10 per cent during the week ended last Wednesday, state officials reported Friday.

A spokesman for the Department of Employment Security said the total of such furloughed employes rose to 9,856 — an increase of 895 over the previous week. All of the additional layoffs came in the Baltimore Metropolitan area and the statewide total includes only 496 outside the area, the department said.

The 115-day-old strike, said the spokesman, has now resulted in layoffs in such steel-dependent Maryland industries as ship repair, electrical household appliance manufacturing, railroading, motor freight, transportation equipment manufacturing, fabricated metals, construction, lumber and wood products, and stone, clay, and glass products.

Petrou To Make Plea Next Week On Murder Count

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Chicago convict Nick Petrou, who has been in a lot of big trouble in his 54 years, probably will make his plea next week to indictments for the murder of two Clarksburg women in 1955.

A new term of Harrison County Criminal Court begins here Tuesday. The days for taking pleas probably will be the following Friday and Saturday.

Prosecutor Robert B. Ziegler intends to have Petrou tried at the same court term, in the event he pleads innocent. However, Chicago police said last March that Petrou admitted shooting the two women.

Police never got a solid lead to the killer or killers until last January. Then Petrou, who once served 18 years in prison for killing a Chicago policeman in a holdup in the 1930s, got into more trouble and his ex-wife blew the whistle on him in the Clarksburg case.

Offers Reward For Proof Of Quiz "Fixing"

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — A former Buffalo, N.Y., taxicab driver who won $100,000 on two televised quiz shows offered $1,000 Friday to anyone who could prove he was on any "fixed" program.

The man, Tom Kane, won his money in 1957 and 1958 on "The $64,000 Question" and "The $64,000 Challenge."

Irish-born Kane, 52-year-old English language expert, said it bothered him that area residents who don't know him personally "believe I was part of this deceit."

He said it would be timely now if the television producers "who were in on the fixes came out with a list of the genuine winners, the people who didn't need the answers."

Man Gets Year For Possession Of Moonshine

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 40-year-old Cecil County man, injured in an auto crash while attempting to flee federal agents, was sentenced to one year in prison Friday for possessing 120 gallons of moonshine whisky.

William L. Richards of Rising Sun, stepfather of six children, pleaded guilty to charges of concealing and transporting the liquor in his car last Sept. 3.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, noting Richards' two previous convictions on illegal whisky charges, imposed the sentence. He said Richards would be sent to the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., where medical facilities are available to treat his injuries.

The judge was told the defendant, who appeared in court on crutches, suffered a fractured hip and a broken jaw when his car crashed. Richards spent 20 days in a hospital and his attorney said he would not be able to resume work for four months.

John R. Hargrove, deputy U.S. attorney, said Richards turned off the lights on his car when federal tax agents spotted his car loaded with whisky on Maryland 272, about a half mile south of Calvert, Cecil County. The crash occurred at a curve on a back road.

The defense said Richards purchased the whisky at a Pennsylvania still for resale in Cecil County.

Petition Denied For Appeal Costs

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A 33-year-old Baltimore sandwich shop operator was denied a petition Friday to have the State pay the cost of his appeal from a grand larceny conviction.

Chief Judge W. Laird Henry denied the request in Dorchester County Circuit Court after saying he wasn't satisfied that Stephanos Glaros was unable to raise the money.

Glaros was convicted of grand larceny Oct. 2 in connection with the theft of $155,000 from a general store in Wingate. He was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

His attorneys filed an appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals on Oct. 15 and, at the same time, Glaros filed a pauper's oath stating that he had no money to pay for the appeal.

by Waldron Leonard of suburban Alexandria, Va., that viewers were being misled "as to the manner of selecting participants for the program."

At the time, "The Big Payoff" was carried on the National Broadcasting Co. network. It moved to CBS in March 1953 but was dropped several weeks ago.

The FCC told the subcommittee last month it has only dubious authority to crack down on quiz shows without getting into the field of censorship.

The FCC had no comment Friday on the complaint about "The Big Payoff."

College Prexy Refuses Pleas For Van Doren

Senior Lloyd Moglen, one of the leaders in getting up a petition of 650 students, mostly undergraduates, charged that Van Doren had been made the scapegoat of the quiz investigation because of his prominent literary name.

Moglen said he favored rehiring Van Doren despite the fact that he lied when he told a congressional committee by telegram and a grand jury in person that he had never received help in winning $129,000 on "21." Van Doren later confessed before the House committee.

"I'm a big enough boy to realize we all do a lot of lying," said Moglen. "It's too bad he (Van Doren) had to do it in front of 100 million people."

The university's Board of Trustees accepted Van Doren's resignation offer "immediately" last Monday shortly after he confessed the hoax to House investigators.

Two undergraduate students presented the petition to Kirk. They declined later to disclose what he had told them.

However, the university announced: "Dr. Kirk told the students that the matter of the resignation had received careful and deliberate consideration, that the case is now closed, and that there would be no further comment."

Hearing Set In Shooting

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A preliminary hearing has been scheduled for Monday in the case of Leon Thomas, 31, charged with the fatal shooting of Everett Easton.

Easton, a 34-year-old laborer, was shot Thursday night while arguing with his estranged wife and another man, police reported.

Detective Sgt. John F. Wilding said Easton was shot in the chest. The shooting, he said, occurred in Mrs. Easton's home in nearby Croom.

Wilding said he was told that Easton shot first with a .32 caliber revolver and that Thomas then returned the fire with a .22 caliber gun.

Thomas was jailed pending the preliminary hearing.

Nixon Campaign Opens In N. H.

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—A campaign to draft Vice President Richard Nixon to run for the Republican presidential nomination was launched Friday in New Hampshire.

Members of the "Nixon-for-President" planning board include Sens. Styles Bridges and Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) and former Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

This is the first official public drive to draft Nixon for the presidency. A "draft Rockefeller" movement has been in operation throughout New Hampshire for more than a month.

New Hampshire holds the first-in-the-nation presidential primary March 8th. Nixon is expected to enter this primary. Rockefeller may enter it.

State Forms New Plan To Save Accidents

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland officials have come up with a new plan to minimize the danger and traffic congestion resulting from ice-slicked stretches of highway.

Developed by the State Roads Commission in cooperation with State Police, the scheme calls for the installation of "Icy Road" signs at exceptionally dangerous spots. The signs will have flashing lights for ready identification from greater distances and will be cleared of obscuring snow by SRC personnel or police.

John B. Funk, SRC chairman, said road maintenance personnel also will be on emergency call to salt or cinder the slick spots upon short notice. Roadside telephone booths will be posted with the numbers of the nearest State Police barracks.

Four Killed In Car Crash

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (UPI)— A speeding car slammed into a bridge near here early Friday, and four of the five occupants were killed.

The only survivor was two-year old Stanley Morris, Jr. He was reported in fair condition at Maury County Hospital. His parents, a brother and another occupant of the car died instantly.

"The car was going too fast, and the driver apparently was too tired to be driving," highway patrol Sgt. Laten Mullins said.

Mullins identified the dead as Stanley Morris, 36, of Tallassee, Ala., his wife, 32, and a son, Dale, 7. William Rhea, 35, Tuskegee, Ala., also died.

Morris had a job as an iron foundry worker at Muncie, Ind., and Sgt. Mullins said the group apparently was on its way to Muncie when the accident occurred before dawn.

Income Taxes Showing Effects Of Steel Strike

The total income tax receipts, however, were still higher last month than in October 1958, $6,247,334 compared to $4,726,782.

More than 5 million dollars of the October revenue represented employer withholding collections for the third quarter of 1959.

Goldstein said his office compared the third-quarter withholding tax of the state's largest steel firm to its second-quarter withholdings and found the third-quarter revenue was nearly a half million dollars less than received for the second quarter.

Smith To Seek W.Va. Governorship

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Hulett C. Smith of Beckley, Democratic state chairman, announced Friday night his intention to file for the gubernatorial primary.

His announcement came three days after a similar one by Atty. Gen. W.W. Barron, also a Democrat. No Republican has announced for governor.

Reporter Feels Russia Fears U.S. Military

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A military affairs reporter said Friday he is convinced Russia is as fearful of the United States as this nation is of Russia, in a military way.

C. Yates McDaniel pointed out, however, the Soviet leaders are more fearful of personal contacts among peoples of the two great powers.

McDaniel, who covers the Pentagon for the Associated Press, spoke at a meeting of the Cambridge Women's Club.

He said the session at Camp David with President Eisenhower had convinced Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the U. S. would not strike the first blow in a war.

The speaker advocated more exchange visits between Russia and the U.S. but cautioned that this nation should beware of any Soviet "soft soaping."

McDaniel declared it would be a mistake for the United Nations to admit Red China to membership. The Communist regime there must be made to learn its lessons for past and present transgressions, he said, and UN recognition would only bolster the present arrogant leadership.

McDaniel also told the women the United States should be more careful in the way it hands out foreign aid. You can't buy off nations, he said, and pointed to Cuba as one example.

Reason Enough For A Divorce

LONDON (AP)—A wife whose husband spanked her because she didn't cook supper for him 90 minutes before midnight has been given a divorce.

Judge John Flowers said of the case brought by Jean Wood, 27, against John Wood, 35: "No reasonable man would expect his wife to get supper for him at that time of night. And if he did expect it—he wouldn't get it."

Court Convicts Forrester Of Malfeasance

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence O. Forrester, suspended police rackets squad commander, was convicted Friday of malfeasance in office by lying to lift probation restrictions for a convicted prostitute and helping her in acts of prostitution and adultery.

The 55-year-old defendant, who denied the charges during a five-day trial last week, listened impassively as Judge Edwin Harlan read his verdict in criminal Court.

Sentence was withheld pending a motion for a new trial, which defense attorney Bernard J. Flynn said he will file. The crime is a common-law offense which carries no prescribed sentence.

State's Atty. Saul A. Harris said the decision meant proceedings would be started for the trial on similar charges of Hyman Goldstein, former acting captain of the rackets squad. Goldstein is now serving a three-year House of Correction term on a conviction of inducing two sergeants to give false testimony in a gambling case.

Forrester also was convicted in the subornation-of-perjury case, but the conviction was later overthrown and the charge was dropped.

Forrester, Goldstein and Albert Weinstein, a taxicab firm official are also charged with maintaining a disorderly house in connection with the activities of the same prostitute, Phyllis Wright.

The woman was a key State's witness at the trial, during which Forrester testified that he had merely sought to use her as an informant in the unsolved 1952 gangland-style slaying of Anthony Messina. He insisted, despite the woman's statement that he had been intimate with her "many times," that he was trying to win her confidence.

Forrester said the charges against him resulted from an attempt by underworld figures to discredit him and have him thrown off the force.

Conflicting testimony in the case also included a statement by Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron that he told Forrester "to hell with the Messina case" and to stop seeing Miss Wright, and a statement by former Chief Inspector Fred Ford that Hepbron told him Forrester's contact in the case was "wonderful news."

Forrester's daughter and wife sat through most of the trial and were present when the verdict was handed down.

Boat Plant Workers Strike

Union agent Gardner Harris said the vote was taken after the company offered a wage increase of six to eight cents an hour, depending on the worker's skill, and the union reduced its demands from 15 to 10 cents an hour.

Harris said hourly wages from $1.16 to $2.04.

Spring Dance Planned By Community Service Group

Members of the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club decided to hold a dance sometime in the spring as its major money making project, rather than during the Christmas season. Plans were discussed at the meeting conducted by Mrs. Edgar Kendall, Thursday at the club house.

Beginning with the general meeting Thursday, Christmas gifts for patients in the mental hospitals in Maryland, will be collected all through the month.

Announcement was made that the ways and means committee of the club is selling decorated containers of Christmas candy. Mrs. Max Bastian will speak on "Art in the Home," at the next luncheon meeting, which will be December 3.

Fenton Davis was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting. His topic was "Trends of Decorating Today." He stressed the fact that a home should be decorated to suit the individual. He said he favors light colors, mostly white, with accents of color. Mr. Davis pointed out that "lots of pieces 'are you,' coming down from ancestors, and should not be discarded." Instead he suggested "to work the room around them." A question period followed.

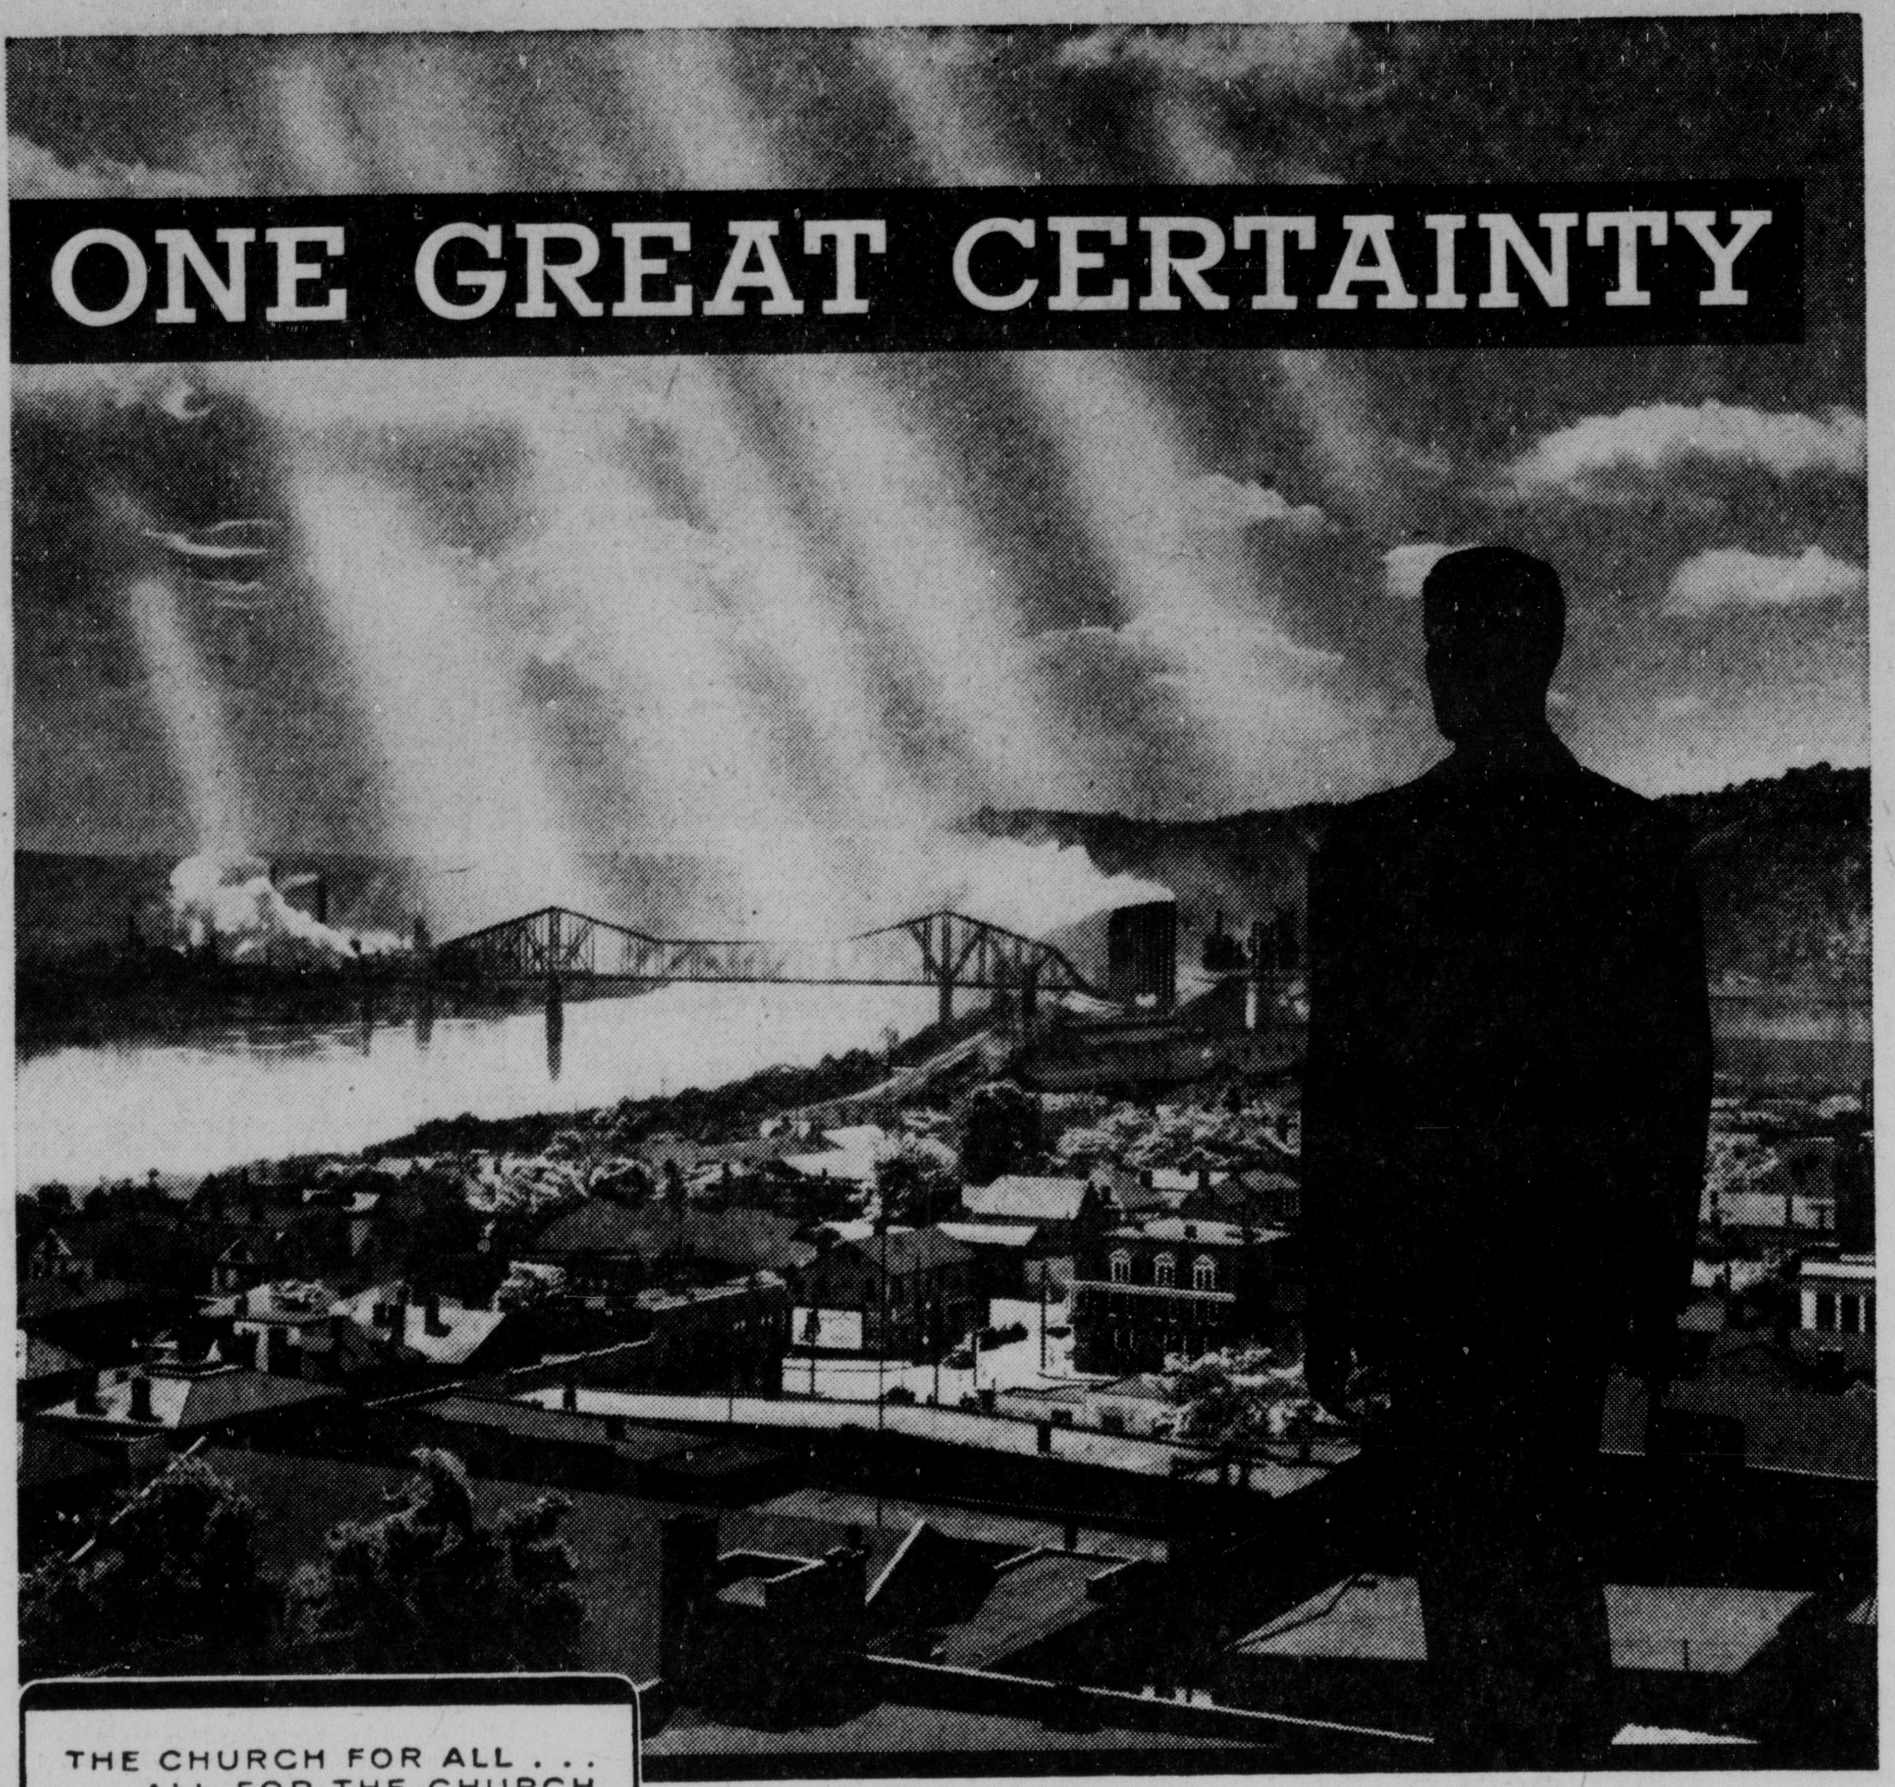
ONE GREAT CERTAINTY



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Ecclesiastes	4	1-6
Monday	Psalms	102	25-28
Tuesday	Daniel	2	20-23
Wednesday	Hebrews	1	9-12
Thursday	Hebrews	13	6-8
Friday	Psalms	115	16-18
Saturday	Psalms	1	1-6

We go back to the old homestead, the old home town. Perhaps we have long anticipated that visit, but now we find that the changes are so disillusioning that we don't care whether we ever return. We meet a friend of years gone by and hardly recognize him. He too has changed. We compare the face reflected from our mirror with old photographs and realize that, without knowing it, we have changed. We try to use a map of yester-year only to discover that it is out of date.

We shudder a little as we wonder if there is anything that remains the same.

The Church tells us that there is. Through the centuries it is the one institution which points to the unchanging God, "the same yesterday, today, and forever." Worship customs may differ, but every Christian congregation seeks to lead men to the one great Certainty, which is God. That is why you will want to start attending church regularly. Here is peace. Here is assurance.

ONE GREAT CERTAINTY

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Ecclesiastes	4	1-6
Monday	Psalms	102	25-28
Tuesday	Daniel	2	20-23
Wednesday	Hebrews	1	9-12
Thursday	Hebrews	13	6-8
Friday	Psalms	115	16-18
Saturday	Psalms	1	1-6

We go back to the old homestead, the old home town. Perhaps we have long anticipated that visit, but now we find that the changes are so disillusioning that we don't care whether we ever return. We meet a friend of years gone by and hardly recognize him. He too has changed. We compare the face reflected from our mirror with old photographs and realize that, without knowing it, we have changed. We try to use a map of yester-year only to discover that it is out of date.

We shudder a little as we wonder if there is anything that remains the same.

The Church tells us that there is. Through the centuries it is the one institution which points to the unchanging God, "the same yesterday, today, and forever." Worship customs may differ, but every Christian congregation seeks to lead men to the one great Certainty, which is God. That is why you will want to start attending church regularly. Here is peace. Here is assurance.

Damage Suits Filed In Fatal Bus Accident

Damage suits totalling $400,000 have been filed in Garrett County Circuit Court in behalf of four children seriously injured in the Mountain Lake Park school bus-train tragedy September 10.

The suits, each for $100,000 were docketed against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Leroy A. Campbell, formerly of Deer Park, the bus driver.

Seven children were killed and 11 others were injured when the B&O's Diplomat hit the stalled school bus at the Mountain Lake Park station crossing.

Stuart F. Hamill Jr. is attorney for the plaintiffs in all four cases. Plaintiffs are Mary Jane Lee, filed by Evelyn Lee, her mother; Sandra Jean Patton, by James Patton, her father; Frances Dixon, by her father, Robert Dixon; and Marjorie Olive Byers by her mother, Mrs. Edith Byers.

The suits in each case claim that Campbell, the bus operator, failed in his duty to operate the school bus "in careful and prudent manner and permitted the same to become stalled on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio; that upon warning of the approaching train he failed to open the emergency door and failed to remain inside the school bus in order to control the vacating said bus and in preventing panic; that he permitted the student passengers to panic and block the front door of the school bus."

The suit also contends that the railroad company "failed to operate the train in a careful and cautious manner, operated in a careless and negligent manner, with full knowledge and view and in ample time to have stopped"

Injuries to the four were given in the suits. Mary Jane Lee suffered two fractures of spinal vertebrae, two cracked spinal vertebrae, concussion, arm and leg injury and other grievous injuries and disfigurements. She was in the hospital from September 10 to 22 and is confined to her home at Deer Park, a total invalid with casts over her entire body.

Shirley Jean Patton has a fractured vertebrae, concussion, lacerations and bruises. She was also hospitalized September 10 to 22, and has a cast around her entire body, from her hips to her shoulders.

Frances Dixon has a fractured cheek bone, fractured collar bone, two fractured spinal vertebrae, lacerated heel and severed tendon of the left foot, a severe injury to the left eye, and was hospitalized from September 10 to 23. She has casts and braces over her entire body.

Marjorie Olive Byers has a fractured hip, a fractured rib, spinal injury and lacerations of the scalp. She was hospitalized September 10 to October 3, and is at her home.

The railroad company was notified but Campbell was not able to be reached. He is working in another state.

Damage Suits Filed In Fatal Bus Accident

Damage suits totalling $400,000 have been filed in Garrett County Circuit Court in behalf of four children seriously injured in the Mountain Lake Park school bus-train tragedy September 10.

The suits, each for $100,000 were docketed against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Leroy A. Campbell, formerly of Deer Park, the bus driver.

Seven children were killed and 11 others were injured when the B&O's Diplomat hit the stalled school bus at the Mountain Lake Park station crossing.

Stuart F. Hamill Jr. is attorney for the plaintiffs in all four cases. Plaintiffs are Mary Jane Lee, filed by Evelyn Lee, her mother; Sandra Jean Patton, by James Patton, her father; Frances Dixon, by her father, Robert Dixon; and Marjorie Olive Byers by her mother, Mrs. Edith Byers.

The suits in each case claim that Campbell, the bus operator, failed in his duty to operate the school bus "in careful and prudent manner and permitted the same to become stalled on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio; that upon warning of the approaching train he failed to open the emergency door and failed to remain inside the school bus in order to control the vacating said bus and in preventing panic; that he permitted the student passengers to panic and block the front door of the school bus."

The suit also contends that the railroad company "failed to operate the train in a careful and cautious manner, operated in a careless and negligent manner, with full knowledge and view and in ample time to have stopped"

Injuries to the four were given in the suits. Mary Jane Lee suffered two fractures of spinal vertebrae, two cracked spinal vertebrae, concussion, arm and leg injury and other grievous injuries and disfigurements. She was in the hospital from September 10 to 22 and is confined to her home at Deer Park, a total invalid with casts over her entire body.

Shirley Jean Patton has a fractured vertebrae, concussion, lacerations and bruises. She was also hospitalized September 10 to 22, and has a cast around her entire body, from her hips to her shoulders.

Frances Dixon has a fractured cheek bone, fractured collar bone, two fractured spinal vertebrae, lacerated heel and severed tendon of the left foot, a severe injury to the left eye, and was hospitalized from September 10 to 23. She has casts and braces over her entire body.

Marjorie Olive Byers has a fractured hip, a fractured rib, spinal injury and lacerations of the scalp. She was hospitalized September 10 to October 3, and is at her home.

The railroad company was notified but Campbell was not able to be reached. He is working in another state.

FLANAGAN INFANT

A seven-week old infant was pronounced dead on arrival yesterday at Memorial Hospital. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Douglas Flanagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick O. Flanagan, Brant Road, Cresaptown, was found by his mother who went to his bed to pick him up shortly before 7 a. m. When she saw the baby was not breathing, her husband went to the home of Mrs. Helen Powell, a neighbor, to call the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Fire Chief Louis R. Winter said the infant, who was born in Memorial Hospital September 16, was lying on a day bed when he arrived. He applied mouth-to-mouth respiration and then attempted to employ the fire department's respirator.

The fire chief said that he reverted again to the mouth-to-mouth method when he discovered the child's throat was blocked, rendering the device useless.

The baby arrived at the hospital shortly before 8 a. m., attaches said.

The unfortunate incident was the second to strike the family within six months. On May 28, before the child's birth, the little boy's father suffered second and third degree burns when gasoline caught fire while he was working at Gurley's Garage on South Liberty Street.

Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, has given his approval for a program whereby three cruisers of the Allegany County sheriff's office would be equipped with radios on the same frequency as the State Police system.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was notified yesterday by William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for Allegany County, of the State Police head's approval of the program.

Meanwhile, the county board has decided to purchase three walkie talkie radios for the sheriff's office. This equipment would be used in times when search parties were utilized and in other emergencies when close contact between the sheriff's office and the deputies was needed.

The walkie talkies have a range varying from 10 to 15 miles depending on the terrain. The plan for the sheriff's office to use the State Police radio frequency was also approved by Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale barracks.

The walkie talkies will be bought through the State Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization.

Sheriff Paul Haberlein also received approval yesterday to purchase three sirens for use on the cruisers of his department. They will cost $30 each.

Sentence Withheld In Theft Case

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday held in abeyance sentencing of two 16-year-old youths on a charge of breaking and entering of the Wilson Hardware Store on October 26 and stealing six pistols and 1,100 rounds of ammunition.

The judge stated that he would await a report from the probation and parole officer before acting on the matter.

Through their attorney, Earl E. Manges, the two youths, John N. Leighty, Christie Road, and Franklin C. White, Valley Road, entered pleas of guilty to the charges presented to the court on criminal information.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, outlined to the court the facts in the case and also some background on the two youths. He said Leighty had been in trouble before and was in the Maryland Training School for Boys until March of this year on a one-year sentence. The White youth has no previous record and Manges said he had attended church regularly and had good grades in school. Manges said White "probably came under the influence of Leighty."

The two youths left their homes and went to the hardware store one afternoon. Later that night they climbed to the store roof and gained entrance through a skylight. They hid out in an abandoned house one night on Williams Road and then at a barn on Christie Road.

After taking a bus to Oakland, the two youths stayed at a motel. Cpl. Samuel Conrad of the State Police picked up the youths on a description furnished by a clerk in the hardware store.

Farm Census Work Begins Next Week

Field work in the 1959 census of agriculture will get underway in the area next Wednesday when a force of census takers will begin visiting farms.

Farm census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators. The census takers will visit all local farms to collect the questionnaires and, if necessary, assist the farmer in filling out the report form.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture is the 17th in a series of nationwide farm canvasses, the first of which was conducted in 1840. The Census of Agriculture is taken at five-year intervals to provide up-to-date statistical information about the nearly five million farms which supply food and raw materials for manufacture of goods used by the people of the United States, now numbering about 178 million. The current census will yield information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment and selected farm expenditures.

The Census Bureau emphasized that all information about individuals and their farm operations furnished to the bureau is held in absolute confidence under federal law. It is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages. The information on an individual report cannot be furnished to any one other than sworn census employes and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation, or regulation.

State Police reported $400 in bills and silver was taken from the business place sometime early Thursday night.

Bonney and Mahoney were picked up at 9:15 p. m. by Assistant Police Chief John E. Sherry, Det. Kenneth Morrissey, Officers Royce Clayton and James Morris.

Trooper C. C. Oliver of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police returned Bonney to Keyser for questioning shortly before noon yesterday after the Keyser man signed a paper waiving extradition.

Mahoney is being held in the City Jail. He will be returned to Keyser on Monday.

State and city police at Keyser are continuing their investigation of the mysterious disappearance of a large amount of money from the safe in the Nancy Hanks Post 2518, Veterans of Foreign Wars home.

Police Chief Guy F. Clem said the exact amount of the currency taken was not known, but that it added up to several hundred dollars.

The money was taken sometime Monday night and the chief said there was no sign of any forceful breaking and entering.

Adding Machine Stolen From Garage Building

The Collins Garage at Nave's Crossroad and U. S. Route 40, was broken into sometime Thursday night and an adding machine taken, according to Sheriff Paul Haberlein.

Western Allies Need Agreement

There is much work to be done before the leaders of the Big Four join at Paris on December 19 for the Western summit meeting. The Western allies must agree on the list of problems which they hope to discuss with Premier Khrushchev at an East-West summit meeting next year.

They must reach some measure of agreement on the relative importance of these problems and the priority to be given each of them. And they must, finally, if it is humanly possible, agree to take a common stand on each of these problems.

How difficult this is going to be is apparent from the fact that there is no real agreement yet on what is to be done about Berlin. The British believe it is possible to obtain an interim agreement which would confirm Allied rights in the Western half of the city and ease tensions. The United States is somewhat less optimistic.

Chancellor Adenauer, at the other extreme, thinks that an agreement on Berlin is possible only at the price of one-sided Allied concessions. He would like to avoid the issue altogether and President De Gaulle apparently shares his views.

However, a great deal of preparatory work is going on which does not reach the headlines. A direct exchange of correspondence among the four top Western leaders has been going on for some time. Diplomats of the four nations are meeting with increasing frequency to lay the groundwork for the Paris meeting.

Featherbedding

Two definitions may correctly be given to the word featherbedding. One is that a laborer performs less work than he is paid to do or that he is capable of doing in a given time. The other is that the unions require that more personnel be hired on a job than is necessary, so that an individual worker perforce must do less than he is able to do. Making work rules is the function of management not of the labor union. In fact, union interference can drive us far behind in the world competition for markets.

An instance of the first kind of featherbedding is the use of smaller brushes by painters, and the union's rejection of rollers. This means that the individual painter is slowed up. He cannot do as much work as it is possible for him to do in a given period and for which he is being paid. If he is a conscientious individual, he will work slowly so that he does not display idle time. In effect, the union rules cheat the contractor; they prevent the worker from becoming a craftsman. Actually, they keep the worker down in the scale of promotions.

An example of the other form of featherbedding is on the railroads. They are forced to employ more workers than are required to do the job efficiently. Thus, the cost of operations has gone so high that both travellers and shippers avoid the railroads which sooner or later must close down. Many of the present railroad workers are older men who are waiting to be retired. It is not a good job for an ambitious young man, anymore.

Another example of featherbedding is in the newspapers, the typographical union demanding that when an advertiser sends in a mat of material already set up and ready for plating—that is, as you see it in the newspaper—a member of the union sets up a duplicate which is thrown away. This is called "Bogus" in the trade and takes place every day. It is a very expensive item in this business and a wasteful one.

No one can defend featherbedding because it is waste—human waste, capital waste, waste of property and equipment. It is a form of increasing wages and increasing the number of employes. The end effect of the process is that it ups the price beyond reason and has out-priced, along with other causes, American goods in foreign markets and in some instances even in American markets.

Featherbedding has unfortunate socio-psychological effects. A man is employed to work 40 hours a week. His union specifies coffee-breaks, which only add to his fat and give the girls time to gossip. The union also stipulates certain holidays during the year. A maximum of 40-hours a week is the lowest time for employment in any industrial country. It is an eight-hour day, five days a week. Actually, it is less than a seven-hour day, considering all the minutes for breaks and rests and the go-slow of featherbedding. In effect, it is a constant sabotage, but as it works out, it is not the business alone that suffers but the national economy.

True, it is possible for a modern industry to put in labor-saving devices and to try to absorb the cost of featherbedding, but many industries have reached the breaking-point at which featherbedding cannot be absorbed by the market. This is the essential cause of the steel strike. Whereas as long as the steel price could absorb the cost of featherbedding, the companies did not fight it; today, however, the steel companies cannot competitively absorb the cost—nor can American automobile companies. Therefore what the union may ultimately force American industry to is nationalization; that is, either the government will own the companies or will grant them subventions to make up for economically unnecessary employment which may be socially necessary.

There is another side to this coin. While we have an enormous labor force of 70,000,000 and automation is reducing the need for excessive manpower, there are actual shortages in all service employments. Where do these skilled service workers disappear to? Let us say, nurses. What other work do they do that there is such a shortage of them? Has featherbedding created such an attitude that unpleasant but necessary work is avoided?

Network Responsibility Question Raised About Rigged Quiz Shows

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Most important question in the dramatic revelation of rigged TV quiz programs is: Were the big networks responsible? Did they violate the trust given them by the U. S. Government—clearly defined by law—that TV stations must be operated in the public interest? How much did they really know about the deceit which President Eisenhower has publicly blasted and has asked the Justice Department to investigate?

So far the Harris committee has been most considerate in the deference paid to network executives.

A CBS vice president and general attorney, Thomas K. Fisher, who was called, swore that CBS know nothing about rigged programs. Mr. Fisher has also denied my column stating that in March 1958 CBS discovered that contestant Wilton Springer had been given the winning answers on the "$64,000 Challenge," yet did not act until September of that year.

However, Mr. Fisher admitted under cross-examination by Congressmen that it was CBS technicians who rigged the machine in the "Dancing Decimal" TV show. Fisher also admitted that the machine was rigged in order to keep contestants from earning too much money.

Fisher was an urbane and contrite witness, full of apologies for the network's oversight. "Looking back," he said, "I am sure that we would and could have done more."

He did not explain the fact that the president of CBS-TV, Louis Cowan, was the originator of "$64,000 Question" and "$64,000 Challenge," therefore must have known a great deal about their original inception and entire operation.

2 A. M. Phone Call

Some light was thrown on CBS's knowledge of quiz show rigging when Arthur Cohn Jr., of New York, testified before the Harris committee. Cohn is the contestant who wrote 20 letters to Revlon and all sorts of other people in March 1958 when he found that Wilton Springer had been given the winning answers on the $64,000 Challenge.

"Did you contact any newspapers regarding this?" asked Rep. John Bennett, Michigan Republican.

"Not until Wednesday," replied Cohn. "Last Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the morning I was awakened by some gentleman from the New York Post. Did I read Drew Pearson? This at 2 o'clock in the morning. At first I was very frightened because I thought someone died or something. I said 'I not only didn't read Drew Pearson but I am going to hang up on you'. Then he said, 'Let me read you a few paragraphs'. Which he did. From then on the phone never stopped ringing. Drew Pearson somehow or other got hold of the letter after a year and a half."

At another point, Mr. Fisher's name entered the testimony.

"Mr. Cohn," asked committee counsel Lishman, "did anyone connected with TV CBS program ask you any questions concerning this incident?

Cohn: "Yes. Someone—I would not be a bit surprised if the name was Fisher—called me about the time I went to the D. A."

Lishman: "About what time was that?"

Cohn: "I don't remember. It was in the spring or summer. I think it was the summer. It was in the summer." (The District Attorney's investigation began the summer of 1958).

Lishman: "When Mr. Fisher contacted you, what did you say?"

Cohn: "He wanted me to come to a meeting to which Mr. Springer had been invited. I said I was averse to going to any meeting, but I would ask my lawyer. Instead, I called my lawyer, my brother-in-law, Franklin A. Goldwater, of Rochester, New York, and I asked him as a favor to me to please call Mr. Fisher directly."

Lishman: "You never attended a meeting with Mr. Fisher?"

Cohn: "I never did."

Lishman: "In your talk with him, did he ask you any questions concerning the incident?"

Fisher Seemed To Know

Cohn: "I don't recall. If I remember correctly, and this is just a guess, he seemed to know all about the incident. I do recall clearly now, because I remember that same morning Mr. Abrams called me, would I please go to CBS and tell them my story? At the time I was unemployed, and to start making trouble and go to CBS and all, I knew it would only cause me difficulties."

Mr. Abrams is George Abrams, then vice president in charge of Revlon advertising.

Lishman: "What did Mr. Fisher say to you when you told him what happened?"

Cohn: "As I say, I don't think I told him what happened. In other words, Mr. Abrams called me first and Mr. Abrams did know the whole story as I told you."

Lishman: "Did Mr. Abrams tell you that he had already been in touch with CBS?"

Cohn: "He must have, because he almost insisted that I go to the CBS meeting, mostly, as he stated, to protect myself, to tell my story. Mr. Springer was there and was going to to be there, and I imagine EPI, and I am guessing it will be a very cozy story."

EPI referred to Entertainment Productions, Inc., the company which was then handling the $64,000 Question and Challenge.

Mack: "You said you thought Mr. Fisher seemed to know all about this. You mean he knew all about what transpired in this particular case involving you?"

Cohn: "Yes. I am a little hazy on it, but it must have been so because Mr. Abrams, of course, was told the whole story and that particular morning he was begging me to please go to CBS. He must have told CBS the whole story."

Chinese Reds Seen Liquidating "Rightists"

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

Is the Chinese Communist regime approaching the stage, familiar from Soviet experience in the 1930s, "when the revolution eats its own young?"

Only the future can answer this grisly but interesting question. But the question has now been vividly posed by an article in "Red Flag," the super-authoritative journal of the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee. The article is ominously entitled, "Rightist Inclined Opportunism Is an Attempt to Open the Road for Reviving Capitalism."

In this article, the unnamed sinners are not merely charged with a dire desire to revive capitalism. They are compared to the Russian Mensheviks — a grim comparison, since the late Vyshinski was about the only Menshevi, left unkilled after 1925. And they are described as "traitors to Marxism - Leninism," whose "socialism is only another name for surrender to the bourgeosie."

Lumped in with these sinners "in our party" are also "middle peasants in rural areas (who) are still longing to step on the capitalist road." These ingrates are regretfully said to "enjoy some influence among the laboring peasants." Concerning the whole lot, "Red Flag" says furiously:

" 'One grain of mouse dropping may spoil a whole pot of soup,' as a peasant saying has it. Very clearly, the Rightist inclined opportunist influence (must be) completely wiped out."

In this farrago of indignation and menace, there is no repetition of the previously common calls for reform of the sinners by comradely brainwashing. Now, the phrase is "completely wiped out." Moreover, the two Chinese characters that were translated as "wiped out" are the same as the two characters that were translated as "liquidated," both when the weeds were being plucked from among the hundred flowers and during the earlier blood purges of undesirable elements.

In the dark, dead Stalin days, such an article in the Soviet press would have meant that rivers of blood would flow before long, in both the party and the countryside. China today is less predictable. Maybe the Chinese revolution will not eat its own young, or will at least put off this customary ritual meal for a little while.

But suppose that the "Red Flag" article does not foretell what it seems to foretell. Even so it certainly leaves few remaining doubts about the process in China which has produced such an article. This is the process that began with the call, last year, for "a great leap forward" and the ensuing order herding the whole of the Chinese peasantry into the rustic labor camps known as "communes."

The basic decision behind these events was clearly a decision to take a great deal more from the already hard-pressed Chinese masses, in order to finance a much more ambitious program of industrial investments. When this decision was executed, the initial consequences to the people were shocking enough to cause a period of recoil.

The recoil began with a long conference of the entire party leadership held in the great Wuhan industrial complex at the end of last year. After this conference, Mao Tse-tung handed over his post as Chairman of the government to Liu Shao-chi. More important still, this conference was followed by a long period of rather open policy debate about the great decision above-mentioned.

Last July the debate reached its open climax, with suave published hints that the true mark of the transcendently great man was not mere immunity to error, but willingness to recognize and correct his own errors. The transcendently great man in question was almost certainly the deified Mao. After all, Mao had been the first to proclaim (in the exact tones of Big Brother in "1984") "Communes are Good!"

The recoil ended later in the summer, however, at another long conference of the whole party leadership at Lushan. Here the faking of statistics on the "great leap forward" was admitted. The wilder organization and doctrinaire extravagances of the communes were also officially dropped. But the communes themselves were retained, and the basic decision to take more from the people in order to industrialize faster was strongly reaffirmed. Those opposed to this decision were then sternly condemned as "Rightist inclined opportunists." One can only say, God save the Rightist inclined opportunists and their friends, the peasant ingrates.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NETWORKS SCRAMBLING — The nation's television broadcasters are working feverishly to organize some sort of self-policing association in an effort to head off tough congressional action on the problem next year.

The scramble for self control stems, of course, from disclosures of widespread "fixing" of highly rated quiz shows. As a result of testimony before a congressional committee, many members of Congress have indicated a deep interest in legislation to check the abuses.

On the theory that any federal legislation will be tougher than needed and would be a burden on orderly operation, the television industry is trying to hammer out some formula similar to the ones which set standards for the movie industry and for sports enterprises.

However, inter-industry rivalries are putting road blocks in the way of the effort. CBS and NBC, for instance, are currently engaged in a front-page dispute over how to handle quiz shows in the future.

CBS has announced they are withdrawing all such shows from the video screen. NBC plans to retain some of their shows, contending they are honest, good entertainment and are wanted by the public.

Some high-priced attorneys are a little miffed by CBS's precipitate announcement sweeping quiz shows off its network. They feel that the action worked against their overall objective of getting agreement on new points in a television code of good practices.

Nevertheless, talks are going ahead. The threat of federal legislation may yet bring an agreement on internal policing not only of quiz shows, but of program content, advertising content, acceptable dress, dialogue and behavior.

When-Issued No "Lark"

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The twin markets in Studebaker-Packard common shares—the regular stock and the when-issued—are proving no "lark" for the Stock Exchange's member firms.

The situation is so confusing that brokers, customers men and the Stock Exchange staff dealing with such matters spend half their time "interpreting."

Speculation in the two issues has become wild, particularly since it is possible to deal in the when-issued shares on 25 per cent margin against 90 per cent in the regular shares. The minimum credit on the when-issued shares, though, is $1,000.

A factor in the speculation is the terrific run up in shares of American Motors, which just crossed $82, compared to the $11 price at which Louis E. Wolfson, the Florida operator, sold American Motors short some time back.

Studebaker shares also have had a big run up, going this year from $9.75 to $29.50. The stock has fallen back in recent session to around $24.50.

The when-issued shares are selling about $7 to $8 below the market for the regular shares. They are not deliverable until January of 1961.

It all comes about because the Stock Exchange listed on a when-issued basis 5½ million Studebaker-Packard common shares for conversion in January, 1961, of a new preferred issued by the motor car firm in its financial reorganization in June of last year.

The new preferred was given to banks and insurance companies that had lent the motor car firm $54,700,000. The banks and the insurance companies agreed to write down their debt to $33 million, taking $16½ million in 5 per cent notes due in 1973 and 165,000 shares of $100 par preferred convertible into 5½ million Studebaker common in January, 1961, or at $3 a share.

Studebaker common then was quoted around $5.50, which gave the new preferred a value of approximately $233 a share. The new preferred closed the Oct. 28 week at $538. It has been as high as $618 recently.

In July the banks and insurance companies sold out their preferred to an investment group at prices that more than recovered the original loan to the company.

Studebaker is doing exceptionally well, since the introduction of its compact car—the Lark. It has just introduced an appealing convertible.

Following the sale of the preferred by the institutions, the company registered the shares along with the 5½ million common into which they are convertible.

The Stock Exchange then admitted both the preferred and the when-issued common. Never before had the Exchange taken such a step as to a when-issued stock. If it had it to do all over again, it would probably take a longer look.

The Exchange did this to prevent short sales in the regular common against conversion of the preferred. The short interest in the when-issued shares at the last report was approximately 2½ million shares. The short interest in the regular common is close to half a million shares.

In a cash account a person can buy the when-issued stock on 25 per cent margin, but with no less than $1,000 credit. However, if a person, say, invests $2,000 in the when-issued shares and finds himself with a $300 profit, he can sell, but the brokerage firm must hold until January, 1961 the $300 profit. In the case of a loss, the customer gets back his original stake, less the loss.

Adding to the confusion, brokerage firms are uncertain whether they can bill the customer now for the commission or must wait until January, 1961.

These are only part of the headaches. The Exchange is open to criticism, for the normal procedure is to limit when-issued trading until a month before the conversion date, instead of 14 to 16 months before it.

Health In The Days Of The Gold Rush

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My hat is off to the brave men and women who participated in the conquest of the west during the gold rush years. Indians were a minor hazard; illness was more serious because physicians were few and far between and medical science was almost in its infancy.

The west is dotted with cemeteries like those in Central City, Black Hawk, and Nevadaville, in Colorado. Many of the graves are unmarked whereas others have marble headstones that are crumbling with age. Dr. Theodore E. Beyer of Denver has written about the tragedies associated with these desolate and decaying cemeteries. A mother and child rest in one grave and three children in another. The markers bear the same date, showing that all died on the same day, probably from diphtheria.

The early settlers suffered from the usual diseases of the day, including pneumonia, sore throat, and croup. Epidemics of typhoid, diphtheria, and tuberculosis were common. The hard-rock miners had to contend with the deadly effects of quartz dust. Most of the mines were crude shafts with no filters or methods of control.

I often wonder how many men found gold, only to die a year or two later from miner's consumption. This may explain why so many prospectors sold rich veins for a pittance and returned east to live in a more comfortable environment. Legal control of conditions in the hard rock mining industry was not enacted in Colorado until 1899.

Dr. Beyer hopes a memorial will be erected to the thousands of unlettered men who gave their lives to insure the success of the west. Their sacrifices should be recognized in the form of a monument patterned after that of the Unknown Soldier in Washington or the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey.

BURPING BROTHER

H. L. writes: Since my brother had a stroke several years ago he has to belch quite a bit. His diet is simple — no fried, spicy, or gas forming foods. Do you think his inactivity is responsible?

REPLY

Yes, but there are other more common causes such as indigestion, air swallowing, nervousness, and medicines. There is no reason why a person who has had a stroke cannot suffer also from gall bladder disease or peptic ulcer. The family physician is in a better position to answer your specific question.

POOR POSTURE

M. V. writes: Can swayback cause enlargement of the abdomen?

REPLY

Something's got to give when the posture is poor and the abdomen usually protrudes when the spine bends in this way. The opposite also may occur, in that an enlarged abdomen may cause swayback in an attempt to redistribute the body's weight. This is observed frequently in pregnancy.

FAINTS AT HOSPITAL

T. C. writes: Whenever I visit anyone at the hospital, I faint. What would you advise?

REPLY

Stay away. Hospitals have all they can do with the patients at hand and should not be asked to treat people who are so emotional they are bowled over by an unpleasant smell or the sight of a sick person.

SPOTS BEFORE EYES

Mrs. E. writes: What is done for eye floaters?

REPLY

These are clumps of cells, or strands of fibrin floating in the fluid within the eyeball. They are noticeable when they pass through the line of vision. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for leaflet on spots before the eyes.

GALL BLADDER RUPTURE

H. L. writes: Can the gall bladder burst?

REPLY

Yes, but the wall of this organ is tough and does not rupture as easily as an inflamed appendix, for example.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In Atlanta, Leo Aikman noted that for a time the younger set disdained using such ordinary terminology as "go to the movies." They preferred to call it "hit the flicks." When one bobby-soxer pleaded to be allowed to "hit the flicks," her mother was ready for her. "Certainly, my dear," she agreed, "but not until you've scrubbed the tub, scoured the shower, spread the bed, and swished the dish."

—AND SWISH THE DISH.

Two Cornellians met after a lapse of several years. "Well, you old faker," laughed one. "I hear you've got yourself a bride, and you the guy who swore up and down you wouldn't marry the best girl in the world." "Well," admitted the other ruefully, "I didn't."

Most frustrated man of the week lives in Milan, Italy. He tried to buy an insurance policy before setting out on a long trip. "Do you own a car?" he was asked. "No." "Do you fly a plane?" "No."

"Sorry," was the verdict. "We do not insure pedestrians any more."

The end effect of the process is that it ups the price beyond reason and has out-priced, along with other causes, American goods in foreign markets and in some instances even in American markets.

Featherbedding has unfortunate socio-psychological effects. A man is employed to work 40 hours a week. His union specifies coffee-breaks, which only add to his fat and give the girls time to gossip. The union also stipulates certain holidays during the year. A maximum of 40-hours a week is the lowest time for employment in any industrial country. It is an eight-hour day, five days a week. Actually, it is less than a seven-hour day, considering all the minutes for breaks and rests and the go-slow of featherbedding. In effect, it is a constant sabotage, but as it works out, it is not the business alone that suffers but the national economy.

True, it is possible for a modern industry to put in labor-saving devices and to try to absorb the cost of featherbedding, but many industries have reached the breaking-point at which featherbedding cannot be absorbed by the market. This is the essential cause of the steel strike. Whereas as long as the steel price could absorb the cost of featherbedding, the companies did not fight it; today, however, the steel companies cannot competitively absorb the cost—nor can American automobile companies. Therefore what the union may ultimately force American industry to is nationalization; that is, either the government will own the companies or will grant them subventions to make up for economically unnecessary employment which may be socially necessary.

There is another side to this coin. While we have an enormous labor force of 70,000,000 and automation is reducing the need for excessive manpower, there are actual shortages in all service employments. Where do these skilled service workers disappear to? Let us say, nurses. What other work do they do that there is such a shortage of them? Has featherbedding created such an attitude that unpleasant but necessary work is avoided?

Chinese Reds Seen Liquidating "Rightists"

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

Is the Chinese Communist regime approaching the stage, familiar from Soviet experience in the 1930s, "when the revolution eats its own young?"

Only the future can answer this grisly but interesting question. But the question has now been vividly posed by an article in "Red Flag," the super-authoritative journal of the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee. The article is ominously entitled, "Rightist Inclined Opportunism Is an Attempt to Open the Road for Reviving Capitalism."

In this article, the unnamed sinners are not merely charged with a dire desire to revive capitalism. They are compared to the Russian Mensheviks — a grim comparison, since the late Vyshinski was about the only Menshevi, left unkilled after 1925. And they are described as "traitors to Marxism - Leninism," whose "socialism is only another name for surrender to the bourgeosie."

Lumped in with these sinners "in our party" are also "middle peasants in rural areas (who) are still longing to step on the capitalist road." These ingrates are regretfully said to "enjoy some influence among the laboring peasants." Concerning the whole lot, "Red Flag" says furiously:

" 'One grain of mouse dropping may spoil a whole pot of soup,' as a peasant saying has it. Very clearly, the Rightist inclined opportunist influence (must be) completely wiped out."

In this farrago of indignation and menace, there is no repetition of the previously common calls for reform of the sinners by comradely brainwashing. Now, the phrase is "completely wiped out." Moreover, the two Chinese characters that were translated as "wiped out" are the same as the two characters that were translated as "liquidated," both when the weeds were being plucked from among the hundred flowers and during the earlier blood purges of undesirable elements.

In the dark, dead Stalin days, such an article in the Soviet press would have meant that rivers of blood would flow before long, in both the party and the countryside. China today is less predictable. Maybe the Chinese revolution will not eat its own young, or will at least put off this customary ritual meal for a little while.

But suppose that the "Red Flag" article does not foretell what it seems to foretell. Even so it certainly leaves few remaining doubts about the process in China which has produced such an article. This is the process that began with the call, last year, for "a great leap forward" and the ensuing order herding the whole of the Chinese peasantry into the rustic labor camps known as "communes."

The basic decision behind these events was clearly a decision to take a great deal more from the already hard-pressed Chinese masses, in order to finance a much more ambitious program of industrial investments. When this decision was executed, the initial consequences to the people were shocking enough to cause a period of recoil.

The recoil began with a long conference of the entire party leadership held in the great Wuhan industrial complex at the end of last year. After this conference, Mao Tse-tung handed over his post as Chairman of the government to Liu Shao-chi. More important still, this conference was followed by a long period of rather open policy debate about the great decision above-mentioned.

Last July the debate reached its open climax, with suave published hints that the true mark of the transcendently great man was not mere immunity to error, but willingness to recognize and correct his own errors. The transcendently great man in question was almost certainly the deified Mao. After all, Mao had been the first to proclaim (in the exact tones of Big Brother in "1984") "Communes are Good!"

The recoil ended later in the summer, however, at another long conference of the whole party leadership at Lushan. Here the faking of statistics on the "great leap forward" was admitted. The wilder organization and doctrinaire extravagances of the communes were also officially dropped. But the communes themselves were retained, and the basic decision to take more from the people in order to industrialize faster was strongly reaffirmed. Those opposed to this decision were then sternly condemned as "Rightist inclined opportunists." One can only say, God save the Rightist inclined opportunists and their friends, the peasant ingrates.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NETWORKS SCRAMBLING — The nation's television broadcasters are working feverishly to organize some sort of self-policing association in an effort to head off tough congressional action on the problem next year.

The scramble for self control stems, of course, from disclosures of widespread "fixing" of highly rated quiz shows. As a result of testimony before a congressional committee, many members of Congress have indicated a deep interest in legislation to check the abuses.

On the theory that any federal legislation will be tougher than needed and would be a burden on orderly operation, the television industry is trying to hammer out some formula similar to the ones which set standards for the movie industry and for sports enterprises.

However, inter-industry rivalries are putting road blocks in the way of the effort. CBS and NBC, for instance, are currently engaged in a front-page dispute over how to handle quiz shows in the future.

CBS has announced they are withdrawing all such shows from the video screen. NBC plans to retain some of their shows, contending they are honest, good entertainment and are wanted by the public.

Some high-priced attorneys are a little miffed by CBS's precipitate announcement sweeping quiz shows off its network. They feel that the action worked against their overall objective of getting agreement on new points in a television code of good practices.

Nevertheless, talks are going ahead. The threat of federal legislation may yet bring an agreement on internal policing not only of quiz shows, but of program content, advertising content, acceptable dress, dialogue and behavior.

Health In The Days Of The Gold Rush

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My hat is off to the brave men and women who participated in the conquest of the west during the gold rush years. Indians were a minor hazard; illness was more serious because physicians were few and far between and medical science was almost in its infancy.

The west is dotted with cemeteries like those in Central City, Black Hawk, and Nevadaville, in Colorado. Many of the graves are unmarked whereas others have marble headstones that are crumbling with age. Dr. Theodore E. Beyer of Denver has written about the tragedies associated with these desolate and decaying cemeteries. A mother and child rest in one grave and three children in another. The markers bear the same date, showing that all died on the same day, probably from diphtheria.

The early settlers suffered from the usual diseases of the day, including pneumonia, sore throat, and croup. Epidemics of typhoid, diphtheria, and tuberculosis were common. The hard-rock miners had to contend with the deadly effects of quartz dust. Most of the mines were crude shafts with no filters or methods of control.

I often wonder how many men found gold, only to die a year or two later from miner's consumption. This may explain why so many prospectors sold rich veins for a pittance and returned east to live in a more comfortable environment. Legal control of conditions in the hard rock mining industry was not enacted in Colorado until 1899.

Dr. Beyer hopes a memorial will be erected to the thousands of unlettered men who gave their lives to insure the success of the west. Their sacrifices should be recognized in the form of a monument patterned after that of the Unknown Soldier in Washington or the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey.

BURPING BROTHER

H. L. writes: Since my brother had a stroke several years ago he has to belch quite a bit. His diet is simple — no fried, spicy, or gas forming foods. Do you think his inactivity is responsible?

REPLY

Yes, but there are other more common causes such as indigestion, air swallowing, nervousness, and medicines. There is no reason why a person who has had a stroke cannot suffer also from gall bladder disease or peptic ulcer. The family physician is in a better position to answer your specific question.

POOR POSTURE

M. V. writes: Can swayback cause enlargement of the abdomen?

REPLY

Something's got to give when the posture is poor and the abdomen usually protrudes when the spine bends in this way. The opposite also may occur, in that an enlarged abdomen may cause swayback in an attempt to redistribute the body's weight. This is observed frequently in pregnancy.

FAINTS AT HOSPITAL

T. C. writes: Whenever I visit anyone at the hospital, I faint. What would you advise?

REPLY

Stay away. Hospitals have all they can do with the patients at hand and should not be asked to treat people who are so emotional they are bowled over by an unpleasant smell or the sight of a sick person.

SPOTS BEFORE EYES

Mrs. E. writes: What is done for eye floaters?

REPLY

These are clumps of cells, or strands of fibrin floating in the fluid within the eyeball. They are noticeable when they pass through the line of vision. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for leaflet on spots before the eyes.

GALL BLADDER RUPTURE

H. L. writes: Can the gall bladder burst?

REPLY

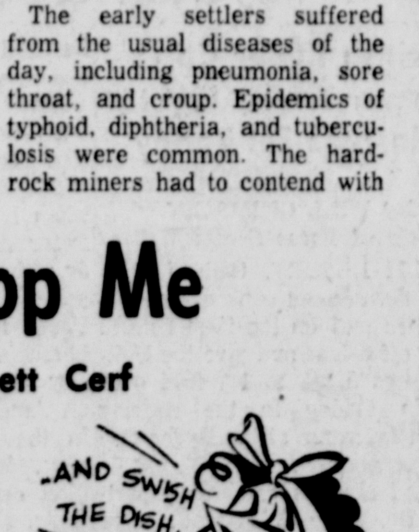
Yes, but the wall of this organ is tough and does not rupture as easily as an inflamed appendix, for example.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In Atlanta, Leo Aikman noted that for a time the younger set disdained using such ordinary terminology as "go to the movies." They preferred to call it "hit the flicks." When one bobby-soxer pleaded to be allowed to "hit the flicks," her mother was ready for her. "Certainly, my dear," she agreed, "but not until you've scrubbed the tub, scoured the shower, spread the bed, and swished the dish."



—AND SWISH THE DISH.

Two Cornellians met after a lapse of several years. "Well, you old faker," laughed one. "I hear you've got yourself a bride, and you the guy who swore up and down you wouldn't marry the best girl in the world." "Well," admitted the other ruefully, "I didn't."

Most frustrated man of the week lives in Milan, Italy. He tried to buy an insurance policy before setting out on a long trip. "Do you own a car?" he was asked. "No." "Do you fly a plane?" "No."

"Sorry," was the verdict. "We do not insure pedestrians any more."

Network Responsibility Question Raised About Rigged Quiz Shows

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Most important question in the dramatic revelation of rigged TV quiz programs is: Were the big networks responsible? Did they violate the trust given them by the U. S. Government—clearly defined by law—that TV stations must be operated in the public interest? How much did they really know about the deceit which President Eisenhower has publicly blasted and has asked the Justice Department to investigate?

So far the Harris committee has been most considerate in the deference paid to network executives.

A CBS vice president and general attorney, Thomas K. Fisher, who was called, swore that CBS know nothing about rigged programs. Mr. Fisher has also denied my column stating that in March 1958 CBS discovered that contestant Wilton Springer had been given the winning answers on the "$64,000 Challenge," yet did not act until September of that year.

However, Mr. Fisher admitted under cross-examination by Congressmen that it was CBS technicians who rigged the machine in the "Dancing Decimal" TV show. Fisher also admitted that the machine was rigged in order to keep contestants from earning too much money.

Fisher was an urbane and contrite witness, full of apologies for the network's oversight. "Looking back," he said, "I am sure that we would and could have done more."

He did not explain the fact that the president of CBS-TV, Louis Cowan, was the originator of "$64,000 Question" and "$64,000 Challenge," therefore must have known a great deal about their original inception and entire operation.

2 A. M. Phone Call

Some light was thrown on CBS's knowledge of quiz show rigging when Arthur Cohn Jr., of New York, testified before the Harris committee. Cohn is the contestant who wrote 20 letters to Revlon and all sorts of other people in March 1958 when he found that Wilton Springer had been given the winning answers on the $64,000 Challenge.

"Did you contact any newspapers regarding this?" asked Rep. John Bennett, Michigan Republican.

"Not until Wednesday," replied Cohn. "Last Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the morning I was awakened by some gentleman from the New York Post. Did I read Drew Pearson? This at 2 o'clock in the morning. At first I was very frightened because I thought someone died or something. I said 'I not only didn't read Drew Pearson but I am going to hang up on you'. Then he said, 'Let me read you a few paragraphs'. Which he did. From then on the phone never stopped ringing. Drew Pearson somehow or other got hold of the letter after a year and a half."

At another point, Mr. Fisher's name entered the testimony.

"Mr. Cohn," asked committee counsel Lishman, "did anyone connected with TV CBS program ask you any questions concerning this incident?

Cohn: "Yes. Someone—I would not be a bit surprised if the name was Fisher—called me about the time I went to the D. A."

Lishman: "About what time was that?"

Cohn: "I don't remember. It was in the spring or summer. I think it was the summer. It was in the summer." (The District Attorney's investigation began the summer of 1958).

Lishman: "When Mr. Fisher contacted you, what did you say?"

Cohn: "He wanted me to come to a meeting to which Mr. Springer had been invited. I said I was averse to going to any meeting, but I would ask my lawyer. Instead, I called my lawyer, my brother-in-law, Franklin A. Goldwater, of Rochester, New York, and I asked him as a favor to me to please call Mr. Fisher directly."

Lishman: "You never attended a meeting with Mr. Fisher?"

Cohn: "I never did."

Lishman: "In your talk with him, did he ask you any questions concerning the incident?"

Fisher Seemed To Know

Cohn: "I don't recall. If I remember correctly, and this is just a guess, he seemed to know all about the incident. I do recall clearly now, because I remember that same morning Mr. Abrams called me, would I please go to CBS and tell them my story? At the time I was unemployed, and to start making trouble and go to CBS and all, I knew it would only cause me difficulties."

Mr. Abrams is George Abrams, then vice president in charge of Revlon advertising.

Lishman: "What did Mr.Fisher say to you when you told him what happened?"

Cohn: "As I say, I don't think I told him what happened. In other words, Mr. Abrams called me first and Mr. Abrams did know the whole story as I told you."

Lishman: "Did Mr. Abrams tell you that he had already been in touch with CBS?"

Cohn: "He must have, because he almost insisted that I go to the CBS meeting, mostly, as he stated, to protect myself, to tell my story. Mr. Springer was there and was going to to be there, and I imagine EPI, and I am guessing it will be a very cozy story."

EPI referred to Entertainment Productions, Inc., the company which was then handling the $64,000 Question and Challenge.

Mack: "You said you thought Mr. Fisher seemed to know all about this. You mean he knew all about what transpired in this particular case involving you?"

Cohn: "Yes. I am a little hazy on it, but it must have been so because Mr. Abrams, of course, was told the whole story and that particular morning he was begging me to please go to CBS. He must have told CBS the whole story."

When-Issued No "Lark"

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The twin markets in Studebaker-Packard common shares—the regular stock and the when-issued—are proving no "lark" for the Stock Exchange's member firms.

The situation is so confusing that brokers, customers men and the Stock Exchange staff dealing with such matters spend half their time "interpreting."

Speculation in the two issues has become wild, particularly since it is possible to deal in the when-issued shares on 25 per cent margin against 90 per cent in the regular shares. The minimum credit on the when-issued shares, though, is $1,000.

A factor in the speculation is the terrific run up in shares of American Motors, which just crossed $82, compared to the $11 price at which Louis E. Wolfson, the Florida operator, sold American Motors short some time back.

Studebaker shares also have had a big run up, going this year from $9.75 to $29.50. The stock has fallen back in recent session to around $24.50.

The when-issued shares are selling about $7 to $8 below the market for the regular shares. They are not deliverable until January of 1961.

It all comes about because the Stock Exchange listed on a when-issued basis 5½ million Studebaker-Packard common shares for conversion in January, 1961, of a new preferred issued by the motor car firm in its financial reorganization in June of last year.

The new preferred was given to banks and insurance companies that had lent the motor car firm $54,700,000. The banks and the insurance companies agreed to write down their debt to $33 million, taking $16½ million in 5 per cent notes due in 1973 and 165,000 shares of $100 par preferred convertible into 5½ million Studebaker common in January, 1961, or at $3 a share.

Studebaker common then was quoted around $5.50, which gave the new preferred a value of approximately $233 a share. The new preferred closed the Oct. 28 week at $538. It has been as high as $618 recently.

In July the banks and insurance companies sold out their preferred to an investment group at prices that more than recovered the original loan to the company.

Studebaker is doing exceptionally well, since the introduction of its compact car—the Lark. It has just introduced an appealing convertible.

Following the sale of the preferred by the institutions, the company registered the shares along with the 5½ million common into which they are convertible.

The Stock Exchange then admitted both the preferred and the when-issued common. Never before had the Exchange taken such a step as to a when-issued stock. If it had it to do all over again, it would probably take a longer look.

The Exchange did this to prevent short sales in the regular common against conversion of the preferred. The short interest in the when-issued shares at the last report was approximately 2½ million shares. The short interest in the regular common is close to half a million shares.

In a cash account a person can buy the when-issued stock on 25 per cent margin, but with no less than $1,000 credit. However, if a person, say, invests $2,000 in the when-issued shares and finds himself with a $300 profit, he can sell, but the brokerage firm must hold until January, 1961 the $300 profit. In the case of a loss, the customer gets back his original stake, less the loss.

Adding to the confusion, brokerage firms are uncertain whether they can bill the customer now for the commission or must wait until January, 1961.

These are only part of the headaches. The Exchange is open to criticism, for the normal procedure is to limit when-issued trading until a month before the conversion date, instead of 14 to 16 months before it.

Halfback Mike Smelser led a ball-hawking Westminster defense and also performed brilliantly on offense in leading the Owls from Carroll County to an easy 25-6 victory over Allegany in near-freezing weather last night at Fort Hill Stadium.

The outcome had a pronounced effect on the standings in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League. The Campers, who had led the league all season, drop into a tie for second place with the Owls, each with 4-1-0 records. Fort Hill's Sentinels, who downed Westminster two weeks ago by a 25-7 score, take over the top spot with a 3-0-1 mark. Allegany is now 6-2 for the campaign in over-all competition.

Westminster struck for three touchdowns in the first period, and all of them were set up by Allegany miscues. Smelser intercepted a pair of passes in Allegany territory, and a Westminster lineman picked up a Gay Mulligan fumble and lumbered 75 yards for a TD.

Gaffney Bottled Up

Bob Gaffney, leading scorer in the CVAL and spearhead of the Allegany attack all season, was effectively bottled up last night, gaining a net of only 18 yards in 14 carries. Carrying the ball on the first play from scrimmage, he was smeared for a 13-yard loss by Dale Feeser. Nearly every time the hard-running junior halfback tried to sweep the ends for yardage, he found Smelser waiting to bring him down.

Smelser also intercepted a Gaffney-thrown pass on the second play of the game and carried it 20 yards to the Allegany 22, from where it took the Owls only five plays to move into paydirt, quarterback Eugene Hill sneaking over from the one. Left-footed kicker Jim Shaeffer booted the extra point and the Owls had a 7-0 lead with only 2:15 gone in the contest.

The Campers, on the strength of a 45-yard run by Frank Cawood, threatened to move right back into the ball game, but their aspirations were spoiled by a 200-pound guard named Vernon Dutterer. With Allegany in possession on the Westminster 25, Mulligan fumbled while taking the snap from center. Out of the confusion came Dutterer, ball in hand, headed for the goal line. Having got the jump on the startled Campers, he managed to make his way 75 yards unmolested for the second Westminster six-pointer.

The Owls' third touchdown of the game came with a minute to go in the first period when Smelser bucked over from two yards out, after he had stolen a Mulligan aerial back on the Camper 40 to set up the score. Smelser and Shaeffer, the other Westminster halfback, accounted for most of the yardage in the drive.

Allegany tried only four passes all evening and three of them were intercepted by Smelser, who made an over-the-shoulder grab of a pass from Mulligan on the final play of the first half.

Campers Score In 2nd

The lone Camper touchdown came in the second quarter on a 15-play, 60-yard drive in which a 15-yard personal foul infraction against the visitors on a fourth down, nine yards to go situation kept the West Siders in possession at the Owl 44. A fake punt on a fourth and four setup also clicked for the Campers, who scored when Cawood plunged over from a yard out to climax the march.

Westminster's final TD came with seven minutes left in the game. A 22-yard punt by Cawood gave the Owls the ball on the Camper 32 and from there Shaeffer and Smelser moved the ball goalward, with the latter going over from the 14 after eluding several would-be tacklers.

Penn State Faces Syracuse In East's Big Game Of Year

Wisconsin To Test Unbeaten Wildcats; Vols To Battle LSU

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Syracuse's "Sizeable Seven" really as big as it's touted? And will that exciting Northwestern team get its biggest push toward representing the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl? Stick around Saturday and you'll find the answers to these, and a few other pertinent football problems.

Unbeaten Syracuse (6-0) plays unbeaten Penn State (7-0) in the East's biggest game of the year, with the winner having a choice of four major bowls.

In the Midwest Northwestern, unbeaten in six games and the nation's second-ranked team in the latest Associated Press poll, meets Wisconsin (5-1), ninth-ranked and having a severe case of "rose" fever.

Vols Test LSU

These are the day's two big games, but top-ranked Louisiana State, after consolidating its position last week by beating Mississippi, can't rest against tough Tennessee. Third-ranked Texas also tries to take a step closer to the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl's host spot against Baylor.

Syracuse ranked fourth, is the nation's top team in offense and defense and tops in scoring with a 36.2 point per game average. Most of this success is pinned to its starting line, appropriately named the "Sizeable Seven" (they're 6'3" and average 216 pounds).

Against this Penn State (No. 7) sends star quarterback Richie Lucas and the anonymous, though impressive, cast of characters fronting him.

Northwestern has ace halfbacks Ron Burton and Ray Purdin in good shape for one of the few times this year. Wisconsin, with a loss to Purdue in conference play, must win or drop out of the Rose Bowl picture.

Southern California's Trojans, 6-0 and sixth-ranked, meet West Virginia (3-4) in an intersectional game in Los Angeles.

The other three top 10 teams are in the South, with Ole Miss (No. 5) meeting brave Chattanooga, which fell before Tennessee a week ago. Eight-ranked Auburn (5-1) still has hopes for the Southeastern Conference title as it meets Mississippi State (2-4) at Birmingham, Ala.

Clemson Faces Duke

Clemson, atop the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 4-0 mark and 5-1 overall, also has its eye turned on a possible bowl bid as it goes against ACC foe Duke, 3-4, but winners of its last two.

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks broke a 7-game losing streak by closing the football season with a 19-13 decision over Hancock High School yesterday at Hancock.

Coach Thomas O'Connor's eleven opened and closed the season with victories but dropped seven games in between.

With Hancock leading 13-12 and six minutes left to play in the final period, Pete Smith, Ridgeley halfback set up the winning score when he intercepted a pass on his own 40 and ran it back to the Hancock 16. Then Frank Lambert passed 16 yards to Pete Smith who caught the ball in the end zone. Lambert ran the extra point.

Hancock drove 70 yards for the first score of the game in the opening period. Keefer climaxed the drive by smashing over from the one. Ken Shives passed to Jim Shives for the point.

Ridgeley got back in the running in the second period and trailed at 7-6 when Frank Lambert sneaked over from the one.

In the third quarter the Blackhawks forged to the fore when Ken Phillips skirted end for 42 yards to paydirt but the run for extra point was stopped. Later in the same period a 12-yard gallop by Little sent Hancock ahead at 13-12.

The loss was Hancock's third against four victories.

Mike DeJohn Stops Powell

Bout At Syracuse Ends In 47 Seconds

SYRACUSE (UPI) — Big Mike De John, usually a slow starter, blasted Charlie Powell to the canvas three times with a furious opening assault Friday night to score a technical knockout at 47 seconds of the first round of their nationally-televised 10-round heavyweight bout.

De John, of Syracuse, scored three straight times with quick combinations that left Powell, a former professional football player with the San Francisco 49'ers, who is eighth-ranked, dazed. Powell appeared stunned after the first knockdown. He took the mandatory eight count after his first meeting with the canvas.

He got up but only to face another flurry from the flailing arms of the local boy who went into the ring unranked but an 8-5 favorite mainly because Powell had not been in the ring since losing to Roy Harris in June.

The dramatic win, the 38th for De John, was even quicker than the one-round victory the local boy earned two years ago when he knocked out Alex Miteff, then the most promising heavyweight around, in a little more than a minute in another surprise early assault.

Sammy Boulmetis Has Five Winners

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — Jockey Sammy Boulmetis, having one of his greatest campaigns at Garden State Park, booted home five winners Friday, including a narrow neck victory aboard Miss J.G. in the feature allowance race.

Boulmetis started his streak in the opening race with Tight Money ($7.00). His other victories included Motivation ($7.20) in the third, Sham Battle ($9.80) in the fifth, Miss J.G. ($8.60) in the seventh and Major Watson ($11.20) in the eighth.

Potomac State To Honor Lough November 21

Special Convocation, Luncheon Planned

KEYSER, W. Va. (AP)—Potomac State College has existed 58 years and Dana Glenn Horse Lough, its director of athletics, has coached football and basketball for more than 24 years.

Dana G. Lough

Lough will be honored here Nov. 21. A special convocation will be held on the campus at 11 a. m. Nov. 21, and a luncheon will take place at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club near Burlington.

Potomac State is a two-year junior college connected with West Virginia University as a preparatory institution. But the Catamounts compete athletically against four-year institutions in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference and nearby Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Lough's football teams won the WVIAC title in 1947 and shared the crown in 1950 with Morris Harvey and West Liberty.

Only Coach Rex Pyles of Alderson-Broaddus College has the edge on Lough in length of service to a West Virginia college.

Lough is an alumnus of Potomac State and West Virginia University. At the university, he acquired the nickname "Horse" as a football tackle. He also was on the WVU wrestling team.

Snead Sinks 9-Foot Putt To Give U.S. Golfers Lead

British Ryder Cup Team Trails; Eight Matches Set Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Capt. Sam Snead sank a nine-foot pressure putt on the final hole to stave off defeat and give the United States a 2½ to 1½ lead over Britain Friday in the opening scotch foursome of the Ryder Cup golf competition.

Snead and his celebrated partner, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, were one hole behind the long-hitting British team of Dave Thomas and Harry Weetman, coming to the 470-yard final hole.

Both teams were in the water on their approach shots but Middlecoff chipped to within eight feet and Sam calmly sank the final putt for a bogey 5.

Weetman missed a nine-footer which would have given his team a victory. The match ended in a half, each team getting a half point.

Other U. S. Winners

America's other points were picked up by a pair of musclemen, Bob Rosburg and Mike Souchak and the twosome of Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald.

Rosburg, the Professional Golfers Assn. champion from San Francisco, and Souchak fashioned the day's finest golf in erasing Bernard Hunt and Eric Brown 5 and 4.

Boros and Finsterwald won 2-up from British Capt. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield.

The British picked up a point when Irish Christy O'Connor and Peter Alliss won over Art Wall Jr., the Masters champion and golfer of the year," and Doug Ford, former Masters and pro champion, 3 and 2.

It was the best showing ever on American soil for the British in the scotch foursome type of play, in which two-man teams play one ball and hit alternate shots.

Eight Matches Today

Saturday the two teams square off in eight 36-hole individual matches. The windup will be televised nationally over NBC between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., EST.

The British are seeking to keep the trophy they won two years ago at Sheffield, England, when they defeated the American professionals for the first time in 24 years.

Savage High School an opportunity to finish the season in second place if it defeats or ties Flintstone in the final game of the W.M.I. Soccer League campaign on Tuesday at Mt. Savage.

Colts, Giants Are Favorites In NFL Games

United Press International

The New York Giants are favored over the Chicago Cardinals by seven points but the San Francisco Forty-Niners and Los Angeles Rams are rated even in Sunday's National Football League games involving the division leaders.

In the other key games, the Baltimore Colts (4-2) are 10-point choices to whip the Redskins (2-4) at Washington and the Browns (4-2) are favored over the Philadelphia Eagles (4-2) by 7-½ at Cleveland.

The Bears (2-4) are favored over the Green Bay Packers (3-3) by seven at Chicago and the Steelers (2-4) are 6-½ point choices over the Detroit Lions (1-5) at Pittsburgh in the other games.

New York (5-1) entertains the Cardinals (2-4) and is favored to maintain its one-game edge over Cleveland and Philadelphia in the Eastern race. Three of New York's key offensive players—quarterback Charley Conerly, halfback Frank Gifford and end Bob Schnelker — are nursing injuries but may play.

San Francisco (5-1) leads Baltimore by a game in the Western Division. The Forty-Niners shut out the Rams (2-4) last month, 34-0, but Sunday's game is at Los Angeles. San Francisco has won one of nine games there since 1950.

Curci Sparks Miami U. To 14-7 Victory

31,136 See Tar Heels Lose In Orange Bowl

MIAMI (UPI) — Quarterback Fran Curci, a half-pint player with a double dose of heart, passed, punted and powered Miami to a 14-7 victory over a fighting North Carolina team before 31,136 fans in the Orange Bowl Friday night.

The 152-pound Curci did plenty of damage to Carolina on his own. But the key play of the game, he got an assist from Carolina and the officials when a pass interference ruling gave Miami the ball on the Tar Heel one in the first quarter.

Curci, plunging like a man half again his size, pushed over for a score the next play.

Curci punted dead on the North Carolina seven to set up the next Miami score, and batted down a Tar Heel pass on the goal line to halt what looked like a Carolina score.

By TED TROXELL

Halfback Mike Smelser led a ball-hawking Westminster defense and also performed brilliantly on offense in leading the Owls from Carroll County to an easy 25-6 victory over Allegany in near-freezing weather last night at Fort Hill Stadium.

The outcome had a pronounced effect on the standings in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League. The Campers, who had led the league all season, drop into a tie for second place with the Owls, each with 4-1-0 records. Fort Hill's Sentinels, who downed Westminster two weeks ago by a 25-7 score, take over the top spot with a 3-0-1 mark. Allegany is now 6-2 for the campaign in over-all competition.

Westminster struck for three touchdowns in the first period, and all of them were set up by Allegany miscues. Smelser intercepted a pair of passes in Allegany territory, and a Westminster lineman picked up a Gay Mulligan fumble and lumbered 75 yards for a TD.

Gaffney Bottled Up

Bob Gaffney, leading scorer in the CVAL and spearhead of the Allegany attack all season, was effectively bottled up last night, gaining a net of only 18 yards in 14 carries. Carrying the ball on the first play from scrimmage, he was smeared for a 13-yard loss by Dale Feeser. Nearly every time the hard-running junior halfback tried to sweep the ends for yardage, he found Smelser waiting to bring him down.

Smelser also intercepted a Gaffney-thrown pass on the second play of the game and carried it 20 yards to the Allegany 22, from where it took the Owls only five plays to move into paydirt, quarterback Eugene Hill sneaking over from the one. Left-footed kicker Jim Shaeffer booted the extra point and the Owls had a 7-0 lead with only 2:15 gone in the contest.

The Campers, on the strength of a 45-yard run by Frank Cawood, threatened to move right back into the ball game, but their aspirations were spoiled by a 200-pound guard named Vernon Dutterer. With Allegany in possession on the Westminster 25, Mulligan fumbled while taking the snap from center. Out of the confusion came Dutterer, ball in hand, headed for the goal line. Having got the jump on the startled Campers, he managed to make his way 75 yards unmolested for the second Westminster six-pointer.

The Owls' third touchdown of the game came with a minute to go in the first period when Smelser bucked over from two yards out, after he had stolen a Mulligan aerial back on the Camper 40 to set up the score. Smelser and Shaeffer, the other Westminster halfback, accounted for most of the yardage in the drive.

Allegany tried only four passes all evening and three of them were intercepted by Smelser, who made an over-the-shoulder grab of a pass from Mulligan on the final play of the first half.

Campers Score In 2nd

The lone Camper touchdown came in the second quarter on a 15-play, 60-yard drive in which a 15-yard personal foul infraction against the visitors on a fourth down, nine yards to go situation kept the West Siders in possession at the Owl 44. A fake punt on a fourth and four setup also clicked for the Campers, who scored when Cawood plunged over from a yard out to climax the march.

Westminster's final TD came with seven minutes left in the game. A 22-yard punt by Cawood gave the Owls the ball on the Camper 32 and from there Shaeffer and Smelser moved the ball goalward, with the latter going over from the 14 after eluding several would-be tacklers.

Penn State Faces Syracuse In East's Big Game Of Year

Wisconsin To Test Unbeaten Wildcats; Vols To Battle LSU

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Syracuse's "Sizeable Seven" really as big as it's touted? And will that exciting Northwestern team get its biggest push toward representing the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl? Stick around Saturday and you'll find the answers to these, and a few other pertinent football problems.

Unbeaten Syracuse (6-0) plays unbeaten Penn State (7-0) in the East's biggest game of the year, with the winner having a choice of four major bowls.

In the Midwest Northwestern, unbeaten in six games and the nation's second-ranked team in the latest Associated Press poll, meets Wisconsin (5-1), ninth-ranked and having a severe case of "rose" fever.

Vols Test LSU

These are the day's two big games, but top-ranked Louisiana State, after consolidating its position last week by beating Mississippi, can't rest against tough Tennessee. Third-ranked Texas also tries to take a step closer to the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl's host spot against Baylor.

Syracuse ranked fourth, is the nation's top team in offense and defense and tops in scoring with a 36.2 point per game average. Most of this success is pinned to its starting line, appropriately named the "Sizeable Seven" (they're 6'3" and average 216 pounds).

Against this Penn State (No. 7) sends star quarterback Richie Lucas and the anonymous, though impressive, cast of characters fronting him.

Northwestern has ace halfbacks Ron Burton and Ray Purdin in good shape for one of the few times this year. Wisconsin, with a loss to Purdue in conference play, must win or drop out of the Rose Bowl picture.

Southern California's Trojans, 6-0 and sixth-ranked, meet West Virginia (3-4) in an intersectional game in Los Angeles.

The other three top 10 teams are in the South, with Ole Miss (No. 5) meeting brave Chattanooga, which fell before Tennessee a week ago. Eight-ranked Auburn (5-1) still has hopes for the Southeastern Conference title as it meets Mississippi State (2-4) at Birmingham, Ala.

Clemson Faces Duke

Clemson, atop the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 4-0 mark and 5-1 overall, also has its eye turned on a possible bowl bid as it goes against ACC foe Duke, 3-4, but winners of its last two.

The regional television games will show Pitt at Boston College, in color, beginning at 1:30 p.m. EST over NBC, and the Air Force meeting Big Eight member Missouri (2:30 p.m. EST). The AF-Missouri game will be hooked in to the East after the completion of the BC-Pitt game.

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks broke a 7-game losing streak by closing the football season with a 19-13 decision over Hancock High School yesterday at Hancock.

Coach Thomas O'Connor's eleven opened and closed the season with victories but dropped seven games in between.

With Hancock leading 13-12 and six minutes left to play in the final period, Pete Smith, Ridgeley halfback set up the winning score when he intercepted a pass on his own 40 and ran it back to the Hancock 16. Then Frank Lambert passed 16 yards to Pete Smith who caught the ball in the end zone. Lambert ran the extra point.

Hancock drove 70 yards for the first score of the game in the opening period. Keefer climaxed the drive by smashing over from the one. Ken Shives passed to Jim Shives for the point.

Ridgeley got back in the running in the second period and trailed at 7-6 when Frank Lambert sneaked over from the one.

In the third quarter the Blackhawks forged to the fore when Ken Phillips skirted end for 42 yards to paydirt but the run for extra point was stopped. Later in the same period a 12-yard gallop by Little sent Hancock ahead at 13-12.

The loss was Hancock's third against four victories.

Mike DeJohn Stops Powell

Bout At Syracuse Ends In 47 Seconds

SYRACUSE (UPI) — Big Mike De John, usually a slow starter, blasted Charlie Powell to the canvas three times with a furious opening assault Friday night to score a technical knockout at 47 seconds of the first round of their nationally-televised 10-round heavyweight bout.

De John, of Syracuse, scored three straight times with quick combinations that left Powell, a former professional football player with the San Francisco 49'ers, who is eighth-ranked, dazed. Powell appeared stunned after the first knockdown. He took the mandatory eight count after his first meeting with the canvas.

He got up but only to face another flurry from the flailing arms of the local boy who went into the ring unranked but an 8-5 favorite mainly because Powell had not been in the ring since losing to Roy Harris in June.

The dramatic win, the 38th for De John, was even quicker than the one-round victory the local boy earned two years ago when he knocked out Alex Miteff, then the most promising heavyweight around, in a little more than a minute in another surprise early assault.

Potomac State To Honor Lough November 21

Special Convocation, Luncheon Planned

KEYSER, W. Va. (AP)—Potomac State College has existed 58 years and Dana Glenn Horse Lough, its director of athletics, has coached football and basketball for more than 24 years.

Dana G. Lough

Lough will be honored here Nov. 21. A special convocation will be held on the campus at 11 a. m. Nov. 21, and a luncheon will take place at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club near Burlington.

Potomac State is a two-year junior college connected with West Virginia University as a preparatory institution. But the Catamounts compete athletically against four-year institutions in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference and nearby Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Lough's football teams won the WVIAC title in 1947 and shared the crown in 1950 with Morris Harvey and West Liberty.

Only Coach Rex Pyles of Alderson-Broaddus College has the edge on Lough in length of service to a West Virginia college.

Lough is an alumnus of Potomac State and West Virginia University. At the university, he acquired the nickname "Horse" as a football tackle. He also was on the WVU wrestling team.

Harley Staggers, currently in the house of representatives as West Virginia's 2nd District Congressman, was Lough's immediate predecessor at Potomac State.

It was the fifth game of the series between the schools and Southern's first victory. Petersburg has won thrice and one game ended in a tie.

Forward passes accounted for three of the touchdowns credited to the Garrett Countians. Petersburg registered its only td on a 15-yard pass from Jack Boor to Ernie Nelson in the final period. Boor kicked the point.

Bill Duling registered the Highlanders' first score on a 15-yard end run in the opening period.

In the third period, Dick Stuck passed 40 yards to John Prince for the second score of the game and later in the same period Terry Colaw grabbed Stuck's aerial for a 45-yard touchdown play.

A Stuck-to-Prince pass play was good for 40 yards and Oakland's final score early in the fourth quarter. Ron Colaw ran the extra point.

Snead Sinks 9-Foot Putt To Give U.S. Golfers Lead

British Ryder Cup Team Trails; Eight Matches Set Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Capt. Sam Snead sank a nine-foot pressure putt on the final hole to stave off defeat and give the United States a 2½ to 1½ lead over Britain Friday in the opening scotch foursome of the Ryder Cup golf competition.

Snead and his celebrated partner, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, were one hole behind the long-hitting British team of Dave Thomas and Harry Weetman, coming to the 470-yard final hole.

Both teams were in the water on their approach shots but Middlecoff chipped to within eight feet and Sam calmly sank the final putt for a bogey 5.

Weetman missed a nine-footer which would have given his team a victory. The match ended in a half, each team getting a half point.

Other U. S. Winners

America's other points were picked up by a pair of musclemen, Bob Rosburg and Mike Souchak and the twosome of Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald.

Rosburg, the Professional Golfers Assn. champion from San Francisco, and Souchak fashioned the day's finest golf in erasing Bernard Hunt and Eric Brown 5 and 4.

Boros and Finsterwald won 2-up from British Capt. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield.

The British picked up a point when Irish Christy O'Connor and Peter Alliss won over Art Wall Jr., the Masters champion and golfer of the year," and Doug Ford, former Masters and pro champion, 3 and 2.

It was the best showing ever on American soil for the British in the scotch foursome type of play, in which two-man teams play one ball and hit alternate shots.

Eight Matches Today

Saturday the two teams square off in eight 36-hole individual matches. The windup will be televised nationally over NBC between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., EST.

The British are seeking to keep the trophy they won two years ago at Sheffield, England, when they defeated the American professionals for the first time in 24 years.

Ft. Ashby Vets Win

Fort Ashby V. F. W. won three games from Ruth's Tavern last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Jack Welch led the winners with 18 points and Paul Nazelrod was high man for Ruth's Tavern with 15 markers.

NEW GRID JOB? — Assistant athletic director at the U. S. Naval Academy and a former head coach there, Edgar E. (Rip) Miller reportedly is in line to become commissioner of the new American Football league when it is organized. Miller is a former Notre Dame star.

Colts, Giants Are Favorites In NFL Games

United Press International

The New York Giants are favored over the Chicago Cardinals by seven points but the San Francisco Forty-Niners and Los Angeles Rams are rated even in Sunday's National Football League games involving the division leaders.

In the other key games, the Baltimore Colts (4-2) are 10-point choices to whip the Redskins (2-4) at Washington and the Browns (4-2) are favored over the Philadelphia Eagles (4-2) by 7-½ at Cleveland.

The Bears (2-4) are favored over the Green Bay Packers (3-3) by seven at Chicago and the Steelers (2-4) are 6-½ point choices over the Detroit Lions (1-5) at Pittsburgh in the other games.

New York (5-1) entertains the Cardinals (2-4) and is favored to maintain its one-game edge over Cleveland and Philadelphia in the Eastern race. Three of New York's key offensive players—quarterback Charley Conerly, halfback Frank Gifford and end Bob Schnelker — are nursing injuries but may play.

San Francisco (5-1) leads Baltimore by a game in the Western Division. The Forty-Niners shut out the Rams (2-4) last month, 34-0, but Sunday's game is at Los Angeles. San Francisco has won one of nine games there since 1950.

Curci Sparks Miami U. To 14-7 Victory

31,136 See Tar Heels Lose In Orange Bowl

MIAMI (UPI) — Quarterback Fran Curci, a half-pint player with a double dose of heart, passed, punted and powered Miami to a 14-7 victory over a fighting North Carolina team before 31,136 fans in the Orange Bowl Friday night.

The 152-pound Curci did plenty of damage to Carolina on his own. But the key play of the game, he got an assist from Carolina and the officials when a pass interference ruling gave Miami the ball on the Tar Heel one in the first quarter.

Keyser High School, only unbeaten and untied team in the tri-state area, shoots for its eighth straight victory of the season when it faces the Romney High School Pioneers today at 2 p.m., in Romney.

Romney was the last team to defeat Keyser in a P.V.C. game and that was in 1953. Since that one the Pioneers have dropped six in a row to teams coached by Frederick "Tack" Clark. The Golden Tornado will be striving to extend its P.V.C. victory string to 31 games and its two-year skein to 13 games. Allegany was the last team to defeat Keyser and that was in mid-season 1958. The score was 19-7. During its 12-game winning streak KHS has scored ten shutouts.

Coach Ed Hartman's Pioneers (3-4-1) need another win to get into the .500 class but they'll be the underdogs today. Romney ends its season a week from tonight at Allegany. Keyser plays its last two games at home with Berkeley Springs (Nov. 10) and Charles Town (Nov. 20).

KHS Must Win Pair

To share the PVC crown with the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Keyser must defeat Romney and Berkeley Springs. The Lions already have concluded their league campaign with a 4-0 mark.

Coach Don Bullock's WVSD gridders lower the curtain on their schedule when they oppose the Mt. Airy School for the Deaf of Philadelphia at 2 p.m., today in Romney.

The Lions will be striving to close their second straight season without a defeat. They were 8-0 in 1958 and they have won six and played one tie game this season.

Potomac At Concord

In other Saturday action, Coach Dana "Horse" Lough takes his Potomac State Catamounts (4-3-0) to Athens, W.Va., to play the Mountain Lions of Concord College in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game. Potomac State is 2-3 in the conference and can finish with a .500 record by taking today's contest. Concord has won one and lost six in the WVIC.

Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd College Rams hope to windup their campaign even - Stephen when they battle Bridgewater (Va.) College (2-5) today at Shepherdstown. The Rams are 3-4-0 going into the final game.

Old Exports Battle State Farm Sunday

Top Touch Football Teams Tangle At 3

A battle between the leader and runner-up will highlight the four-game Sunday afternoon program of the Adult Touch Football League when State Farm (5-0) tackles the Old Exports (4-1) at Penn Avenue Field at 3 p.m.

State Farm has defeated the Mapleside Bandits, 35-6, Colts, 55-6, Park Punks 7-0, Beightol's Grocery 44-6 and won via the forfeit route over Durst's Amoco.

The Old Exports won four in a row from Durst's 48-0, the Colts 53-0, Park Punks 26-20 and K. of C. 26-18 before being spilled by Mapleside (26-13) which is now tied with the Brewers for the runner-up spot.

A victory for the Old Exports tomorrow would result in a tie for first place. And it could be a triple tie for the lead if the Old Exports win and Mapleside whips the K. of C. The regular schedule ends one week from tomorrow and then the playoffs get underway.

Judge Martin Wins At Waterford Park

CHESTER, W. Va. (UPI) — Judge Martin, the maiden which challenged the nation's best two-year-olds in the Garden State Stakes last Saturday only to finish last, finally scored his initial victory Friday.

The home-bred horse owned by Joseph Hanover won the third race at Waterford Park, paying only $3.00, $2.60 and $2.40 across the board.

Judge Martin was beaten by about 45 lengths at Garden State Park in the world's richest race which carried a total value of $283,075. Friday Judge Martin's share of a $1,000 purse was $625.

Jimmy Clemens, who said Judge Martin "did not like the track" after his defeat in the Garden State Stakes, again rode Friday.

Grant Rides Creswood Dottie To Win In Maryland Futurity

Howard To Pilot Peru's Lightning In International

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 6 (AP)—Gaining the championship among Maryland-bred 2-year-olds, Paul A. Cresci's Creswood Dottie came from off the pace to win the $10,000-added Maryland Futurity, seventh race at Laurel track today.

Only seven juveniles started in the season's most important stake for Maryland-breds. Creswood Dottie won by three parts of a length from Larry MacPhail's Miss Thing, who was the same margin in front of John P. Pons' M'selle Victoire.

Creswood Dottie paid $3.60, $2.40 and $2.20; Miss Thing, $2.80 and $2.20, and M'selle Victoire, $2.20.

Although last from the gate, Creswood Dottie was up to fourth place before reaching the far turn and then passed two rivals in the last sixteenth of a mile while rushing the six furlongs in 1.14.

Howard Grant, who is running off with the Laurel saddle honors, was aboard his second winner of the day and 23d winner of the meeting when he rode Creswood Dottie in faultless style. He also was aboard Galdar, winner of the last race, making it 24. Grant's nearest rival in the saddle contest is Frank Northcutt, who has ridden six winners.

Shortly before winning the Maryland Futurity with Creswood Dottie, Grant announced he has accepted the mount on Col. C. J. Tippett's Lightning (Peru) in next Wednesday's $100,000 Washington D.C. International.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

Baseball, ever mindful of the ancient "Black Sox" scandal, goes to great lengths to thwart any suspicion of its integrity...for instance: Casey Stengel, whose New York Yankees finished third in the pennant race, was hired by a national magazine to cover the World Series...a question was raised that Stengel's pay from the magazine might be more than the World Series cut hauled in by Al Lopez of the White Sox, thus making it more profitable in this case to be a losing manager than a winner in the pennant race.

"I thought of that," said baseball commissioner Ford Frick. "I won't tell you what Stengel's fee was but it still pays better to be a winner."

Odd sight on the Princeton campus each football Saturday is a handsome white amublance with "Princeton Band" neatly lettered on side and rear...no, cats, tootling for the Tigers isn't really that hazardous...the band boys got a "buy" on the ambulance that proved cheaper than a deal for a truck to tote instruments.

Bell Was "Genius"

Among other things, the late Bert Bell, pro football commissioner, was a "genius" at scheduling...Bert had the say-so on who played whom in each of two games each club meets outside its own division...shortly after former Giant assistant Vince Lombardi moved to Green Bay, Bert rejiggered the schedule so Green Bay would play at New York (it drew 68,000)...he also put Los Angeles into Philadelphia where Norm Van Brocklin of the Eagles could show against his former mates and scheduled Detroit at Pittsburgh to capitalize on a George Wilson - Buddy Parker feud.

Halftime ceremonies at the Georgia Tech-Notre Dame game in South Bend, Ind., Saturday will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the famous "Notre Dame Victory March"...Jack Shea, a co-author, will be on hand.

Time flies department: the last time Oklahoma lost a conference football game (before last week's defeat against Nebraska) the current crop of Sooner freshmen candidates hadn't yet entered the first grade...it was 13 years ago...the last time Minnesota defeated Iowa at Iowa City current Minnesota captain Mike Wright was only 10 years old.

Squawks About TV

Plenty of squawks recorded hereabouts and as far away as West Virginia about Saturday's eastern television game—Pitt and Boston College—instead of the clash of unbeaten giants between Syracuse and Penn State...still, even the NCAA boys don't have a crystal ball and the TV schedule was drawn long ago.

Racing Fan Wins $13,725 At Chicago

Pitt Frosh Defeat West Virginia, 8-0

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt freshmen scored in the first and final periods and then stood off a determined band of West Virginia yearlings for an 8-0 victory on soggy Trees Field Friday.

Bruising line play was featured in the game played before more than 2,000 fans. Pitt safetyman John De Simon tackled quarterback Joseph Rumoro in the end zone in the opening quarter to start the Panthers off to a 2-0 lead.

Quarterback Glen Lehner sneaked over the goal from one yard out in the final period to cap a 76-yard march negotiated in seven plays. The Panthers had threatened in the second period but lost the ball on downs on West Virginia's three - yard line.

Pitt 2 0 0 6—8

Scoring:
Pitt—Safety Rumora tackled in the end zone.

Reiser To Coach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers Friday completed their coaching staff with the addition of their former Brooklyn star, Pete Reiser, to replace the departing Pee Wee Reese.

Earlier this week the club announced that Bobby Bragan was filling the coaching vacancy caused by the loss of Charlie Dressen to the Milwaukee Braves as manager.

Undefeated and twice tied in 27 games since late in the 1956 season, Fort Hill High School's Sentinels, idle since October 23, will be angling for their fourth win of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League season when they tackle Coach Doug Cochran's South Hagerstown High School Rebels in the Hub City tonight.

South Hagerstown has yet to defeat Fort Hill in football, having lost two in a row to the locals since the schools opened relations in 1957.

Shoot For 6th Straight

Coach Charley Lattimer's Sentinels, tied by Frederick (7-7) in the second game of the campaign, have reeled off five wins in succession at the expense of Martinsburg, Beall, Handley, North Hagerstown and Westminster and are figured to make it six in a row tonight. Fort Hill's overall mark is 6-0-1 and CVAL mark 3-0-1.

South Hagerstown beat Frederick, which tied Fort Hill, but lost by 13 points to Handley, a team Fort Hill whipped by the same margin. The Rebels are 4-4 overall and 2-2-0 in the CVAL.

Coach George Hott's Moorefield High School Yellowjackets will mark Homecoming Day today by tackling the LaSalle High School's Explorers in Moorefield at 1:30 p.m.

The ninth game of this series finds the teams knotted at three wins, three losses and two tie games.

Moorefield was LaSalle's third opponent in 1928 when football was introduced at the North Centre Street school. This is LaSalle's 32nd year on the gridiron and today's game will be the Explorers' 290th. Their record to date is 123 wins, 145 losses and 21 ties.

Cop 12 Of 16 For Hott

Moorefield is 7-1 for the current campaign and owns a 12-4-0 record since Hott assumed command at the start of the 1958 season.

LaSalle lost its first six games of the season before crashing the win column against Ridgeley in a 7-0 tilt last week.

Keyser High School, only unbeaten and untied team in the tri-state area, shoots for its eighth straight victory of the season when it faces the Romney High School Pioneers today at 2 p.m., in Romney.

Romney was the last team to defeat Keyser in a P.V.C. game and that was in 1953. Since that one the Pioneers have dropped six in a row to teams coached by Frederick "Tack" Clark. The Golden Tornado will be striving to extend its P.V.C. victory string to 31 games and its two-year skein to 13 games. Allegany was the last team to defeat Keyser and that was in mid-season 1958. The score was 19-7. During its 12-game winning streak KHS has scored ten shutouts.

Coach Ed Hartman's Pioneers (3-4-1) need another win to get into the .500 class but they'll be the underdogs today. Romney ends its season a week from tonight at Allegany. Keyser plays its last two games at home with Berkeley Springs (Nov. 10) and Charles Town (Nov. 20).

KHS Must Win Pair

To share the PVC crown with the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Keyser must defeat Romney and Berkeley Springs. The Lions already have concluded their league campaign with a 4-0 mark.

Coach Don Bullock's WVSD gridders lower the curtain on their schedule when they oppose the Mt. Airy School for the Deaf of Philadelphia at 2 p.m., today in Romney.

The Lions will be striving to close their second straight season without a defeat. They were 8-0 in 1958 and they have won six and played one tie game this season.

Potomac At Concord

In other Saturday action, Coach Dana "Horse" Lough takes his Potomac State Catamounts (4-3-0) to Athens, W.Va., to play the Mountain Lions of Concord College in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game. Potomac State is 2-3 in the conference and can finish with a .500 record by taking today's contest. Concord has won one and lost six in the WVIC.

Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd College Rams hope to windup their campaign even - Stephen when they battle Bridgewater (Va.) College (2-5) today at Shepherdstown. The Rams are 3-4-0 going into the final game.

Top Touch Football Teams Tangle At 3

A battle between the leader and runner-up will highlight the four-game Sunday afternoon program of the Adult Touch Football League when State Farm (5-0) tackles the Old Exports (4-1) at Penn Avenue Field at 3 p.m.

State Farm has defeated the Mapleside Bandits, 35-6, Colts, 55-6, Park Punks 7-0, Beightol's Grocery 44-6 and won via the forfeit route over Durst's Amoco.

The Old Exports won four in a row from Durst's 48-0, the Colts 53-0, Park Punks 26-20 and K. of C. 26-18 before being spilled by Mapleside (26-13) which is now tied with the Brewers for the runner-up spot.

A victory for the Old Exports tomorrow would result in a tie for first place. And it could be a triple tie for the lead if the Old Exports win and Mapleside whips the K. of C. The regular schedule ends one week from tomorrow and then the playoffs get underway.

1:00—K. of C. vs. Mapleside.
2:00—Durst's vs. Park Punks.
4:00—Beightol's vs. Colts.

Claude Williams, 66, Former Hurler, Dies

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Funeral services were held here Friday for Claude (Lefty) Williams, 66, star pitcher with the Chicago "Black Sox" who was banned from baseball in 1920.

Williams died this week after an extended illness. He had made his home here for the past five years after having lived earlier in the San Fernando Valley.

During his major league career extending from 1913 when he broke in with the Detroit Tigers until he was banned in 1920 by Commissioner K. M. Landis, Williams won 81 games and lost 45.

His biggest seasons were in 1919 when he won 22 and in 1920 prior to his banishment from the game when he won 22 games also.

A native of Aurora, Mo., Williams was born March 3, 1893. He is survived by his wife, Lyria; his mother, Mrs. R. A. Grimes of Springfield, Mo., and a brother, Jess, of Florida.

Maryland Freshmen Win Over GWU, 14-0

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Maryland's freshmen scored twice via the air route Friday to beat George Washington University's freshmen 14-0 in a driving rain.

Quarterback Don White heaved a 35-yard aerial to end John Boinis in the first quarter for the Terrapin's first score, but the P.A.T. attempt was blocked.

Quarterback Rex Collins hit halfback Andy Terifay with a nine-yard pass for the second score, and then found him again in the end zone for two after touchdown points.

Shoemaker Posts Aqueduct Triple

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Shoemaker scored a triple Friday and Eddie Arcaro won a length victory aboard Reinzi in the $10,000 Market Wise Handicap at Aqueduct.

Shoemaker, the nation's leading rider, began the streak with Zambra ($16.20) in the fourth and followed with Top Charger ($3.20) in the fifth and Nimble Fiddler ($15.00) in the eighth.

Reinzi, travelling the distance in 2:46 4-5, paid $4.40, $2.90 and $2.30 across the board.

Judge Martin Wins At Waterford Park

CHESTER, W. Va. (UPI) — Judge Martin, the maiden which challenged the nation's best two-year-olds in the Garden State Stakes last Saturday only to finish last, finally scored his initial victory Friday.

The home-bred horse owned by Joseph Hanover won the third race at Waterford Park, paying only $3.00, $2.60 and $2.40 across the board.

Judge Martin was beaten by about 45 lengths at Garden State Park in the world's richest race which carried a total value of $283,075. Friday Judge Martin's share of a $1,000 purse was $625.

Jimmy Clemens, who said Judge Martin "did not like the track" after his defeat in the Garden State Stakes, again rode Friday.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

Baseball, ever mindful of the ancient "Black Sox" scandal, goes to great lengths to thwart any suspicion of its integrity... for instance: Casey Stengel, whose New York Yankees finished third in the pennant race, was hired by a national magazine to cover the World Series...a question was raised that Stengel's pay from the magazine might be more than the World Series cut hauled in by Al Lopez of the White Sox, thus making it more profitable in this case to be a losing manager than a winner in the pennant race.

"I thought of that," said baseball commissioner Ford Frick. "I won't tell you what Stengel's fee was but it still pays better to be a winner."

Odd sight on the Princeton campus each football Saturday is a handsome white amublance with "Princeton Band" neatly lettered on side and rear...no, cats, tootling for the Tigers isn't really that hazardous...the band boys got a "buy" on the ambulance that proved cheaper than a deal for a truck to tote instruments.

Bell Was "Genius"

Among other things, the late Bert Bell, pro football commissioner, was a "genius" at scheduling...Bert had the say-so on who played whom in each of two games each club meets outside its own division...shortly after former Giant assistant Vince Lombardi moved to Green Bay, Bert rejiggered the schedule so Green Bay would play at New York (it drew 68,000)...he also put Los Angeles into Philadelphia where Norm Van Brocklin of the Eagles could show against his former mates and scheduled Detroit at Pittsburgh to capitalize on a George Wilson - Buddy Parker feud.

Halftime ceremonies at the Georgia Tech-Notre Dame game in South Bend, Ind., Saturday will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the famous "Notre Dame Victory March"...Jack Shea, a co-author, will be on hand.

Fella with a perfect right to the "crying towel" for the rest of the season is Mississippi State's coach Wade Walker...his next three, starting Saturday, are Auburn, Louisiana State and Mississippi!

Time flies department: the last time Oklahoma lost a conference football game (before last week's defeat against Nebraska) the current crop of Sooner freshmen candidates hadn't yet entered the first grade...it was 13 years ago...the last time Minnesota defeated Iowa at Iowa City current Minnesota captain Mike Wright was only 10 years old.

Squawks About TV

Plenty of squawks recorded hereabouts and as far away as West Virginia about Saturday's eastern television game—Pitt and Boston College—instead of the clash of unbeaten giants between Syracuse and Penn State...still, even the NCAA boys don't have a crystal ball and the TV schedule was drawn long ago.

Racing Fan Wins $13,725 At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—An unidentified racing fan won $13,725 at Sportsman's Park Friday by selecting all five winners in the daily double quintet. The lucky bettor selected the winners from the fourth through the eighth races.

Grant Rides Creswood Dottie To Win In Maryland Futurity

Howard To Pilot Peru's Lightning In International

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 6 (AP)—Gaining the championship among Maryland-bred 2-year-olds, Paul A. Cresci's Creswood Dottie came from off the pace to win the $10,000-added Maryland Futurity, seventh race at Laurel track today.

Only seven juveniles started in the season's most important stake for Maryland-breds. Creswood Dottie won by three parts of a length from Larry MacPhail's Miss Thing, who was the same margin in front of John P. Pons' M'selle Victoire.

Creswood Dottie paid $3.60, $2.40 and $2.20; Miss Thing, $2.80 and $2.20, and M'selle Victoire, $2.20.

Although last from the gate, Creswood Dottie was up to fourth place before reaching the far turn and then passed two rivals in the last sixteenth of a mile while rushing the six furlongs in 1.14.

Howard Grant, who is running off with the Laurel saddle honors, was aboard his second winner of the day and 23d winner of the meeting when he rode Creswood Dottie in faultless style. He also was aboard Galdar, winner of the last race, making it 24. Grant's nearest rival in the saddle contest is Frank Northcutt, who has ridden six winners.

Shortly before winning the Maryland Futurity with Creswood Dottie, Grant announced he has accepted the mount on Col. C. J. Tippett's Lightning (Peru) in next Wednesday's $100,000 Washington D.C. International.

Pitt Frosh Defeat West Virginia, 8-0

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt freshmen scored in the first and final periods and then stood off a determined band of West Virginia yearlings for an 8-0 victory on soggy Trees Field Friday.

Bruising line play was featured in the game played before more than 2,000 fans. Pitt safetyman John De Simon tackled quarterback Joseph Rumoro in the end zone in the opening quarter to start the Panthers off to a 2-0 lead.

Quarterback Glen Lehner sneaked over the goal from one yard out in the final period to cap a 76-yard march negotiated in seven plays. The Panthers had threatened in the second period but lost the ball on downs on West Virginia's three - yard line.

Pitt	2	0	0	6	—8

Scoring:
Pitt—Safety Rumora tackled in the end zone.

Reiser To Coach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers Friday completed their coaching staff with the addition of their former Brooklyn star, Pete Reiser, to replace the departing Pee Wee Reese.

Earlier this week the club announced that Bobby Bragan was filling the coaching vacancy caused by the loss of Charlie Dressen to the Milwaukee Braves as manager.

The U. S. Mint at Philadelphia has been in continuous operation since its establishment in 1792.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Who of us can ever forget that historical and glorious photograph of the six Marines raising the American flag on Iwo Jima? One of those boys, an Indian, Ira Hayes, who held that flag, died tragically, not from an enemy but from well-meaning friends who celebrated Ira's victory too much.

Ed Muhl of Universal-International has bought the story of Ira Hayes, written by William Bradford Huie, and has turned it over to Sy Bartlett to produce as one of Sy's U-I pictures. As everyone knows, Sy is an expert on war tales having served himself all during the war. He would like to get Marlon Brando to play Hayes, but then it seems the whole motion picture world is after Marlon.

Checked with Inger Stevens on the story that her grandfather, Gustave Johnson, of Sweden, had left her a sizeable sum. She said it's true and the estate is now being settled and she has to go to Sweden.

"I leave Sunday for Colombo," she said. "For the film festival there."

Inger says her hair is growing out since she cut it so short for "Jovanka and the Others." She'll never again have short hair. She is still on suspension for refusing to be loaned by Paramount to MGM for 'Key Witness." "I am sorry about it,' she said, "but in justice to myself I couldn't play that girl's role. I told Paramount I would do TV or a bit in another picture and turn over the money to them. I hate being on suspension."

There was pride in Rory Calhoun's voice when he told me that his wife Lita Baron had substituted for Kipp Hamilton in two segments of "The Texan," his TV series. Said Rory, "You know Lita hasn't worked in about four years—not since our babies were born. We were really in a spot when Kipp telephoned that she had tonsilitis, with only a few hours notice, and couldn't do the shows.

"It was too late to line up another star, so I called Lita who agreed to come to the studio and take over. Now we are almost glad it all happened, because Lita is so good. Of course she's very experienced, having been in motion pictures and made nightclub appearances for so many years."

Tomorrow that threat to all the women—he's so attractive—Ingemar Johansson leaves Hollywood for a vacation in Switzerland. He's been staying at the Alan Ladd home and 12-year-old David Ladd is the envy of all his friends because for the past two weeks he has been receiving boxing instructions from the world heavyweight champ. Ingemar worked with Alan in "All the young men."

Before Johansson took off, Hall Bartlett, for whom he made "All the Young Men," asked him about making another picture. Ingemar, who likes being an actor, agreed.

I loved hearing the excitement in Ronald and Nancy Reagans' voices when they telephoned from the Royalhawaiian in Honolulu. After a rainy few days the sun was shining and they were having the time of their lives. Ronnie spoke at the General Electric convention—in fact, he and Nancy were sent there as representatives of GE.

They met my friend Gov. William Quinn and his wife Nancy and other of my friends who sent messages. They made the trip on the Lurline and they'll fly back to California next week.

The testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Tom Dooley on Wednesday, Nov. 18 at the Beverly Hills Hotel sounds better and better. The motion picture world, as well as social Los Angeles, wants to honor this great man whose courage in the face of serious illness is a lesson to all of us.

Irene Dunne is mistress of ceremonies and Hugh O'Brian is chairman of the entertainment committee. Robery Hardy Andrews, Princess Pignatelli, Mrs. Murray Ward, Mrs. Reese Milner and Mrs. Sven Lokrantz are hard working committee members. A feature of the evening will be Ann Blyth singing Paul Cunningham and Jimmy McHugh's new song, "Thank the Lord for This Thanksgiving Day."

Josh Logan called from New York to say that he has Bobby Darin signed to sing the title song in "Tall Story." Shelley Manne has written the music, while Dore Langdon is the lyricist.

Josh was very pleased about getting Bobby, whose "Mack, the Knife" has swept the country like a tornado. There's no doubt in the minds of those who study motion picture receipts at the boxoffice that a song under the title helps sell the picture.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I went steady with a boy two years. He was of a different religion and three years older.

On my 17th birthday my father promised me a college education if I would break up with Wally. I agreed.

To be honest, I'm happy I'm not going steady because I had been missing a lot of good times. I used to think I'd die if I didn't see Wally every night. Now I know I can live without him.

The trouble is my mother is so happy I'm not going steady that she's fixing me up with anyone and everyone. She has arranged blind dates with guys she has never seen. I've drawn some real spooks. I never know what will appear at the door and I'm sick of it.

She says it's good for a girl's personality to go with all sorts of fellows. I am fed up. Please help me. VICTIM.

DEAR VICTIM: Tell your mother you appreciate what she's trying to do BUT no future commitments, please.

Nothing is so unattractive (and damaging) as a mother who is pushing her daughter socially. I hope Mom will lay off.

DEAR ANN: Although we had to get married four years ago because I was pregnant, we made a good start and are happy. His parents are wonderful to me and his brother is a peach. The trouble is his sister, Amy, who is 30 and unmarried.

When I told him we had to marry in a hurry his major concern was "How will I tell Amy." (He never even mentioned his folks).

Whenever we plan a party he automatically includes Amy. On Sunday when we go to his folks' for dinner he sits with his arm around Amy and doesn't know I'm alive. When I complain he says I'm insecure and don't understand sister-brother devotion because I never had any brothers. Please tell me how to handle this. I feel as if I'm on thin ice. DISTURBED.

DEAR DISTURBED: When you can't beat 'em, you join 'em. You'll never break up this combination without doing irreparable damage to yourself. So be sweet to Amy, build her up, include her willingly, and tell your husband he has a great sister.

The friendly approach will build bridges instead of fences. You'll probably wind up genuinely liking Amy when she reacts favorably to your kindness.

DEAR ANN: I feel stupid asking this question because I should probably know the answer, but I don't.

My wife passed away two months ago. She was only 33. I took off my wedding band a few days after the funeral and it is still in my drawer.

A few days ago my wife's sister took me aside after church and said, "You could have waited at least until Mary's body was cold before you started to shop around for a new wife." I was shocked and asked her what she meant by that. She said I should still be wearing my wedding band, and she was hurt to see that I had taken it off so soon.

Is she right? Please tell me. I am — VERY DISTURBED.

DEAR DISTURBED: She was wrong and it was cruel of her to attack you in such a manner.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

When the bright lights of evening come — you'll not regret that your measurements tally with the RULE OF TEN.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Rule Of Ten

Neither movie stars nor models have perfect figures. Perfection is well-nigh impossible in the human form. But, if your figure isn't all it should be, and you practically "see" a guilty finger of suspicion pointing at you, maybe you don't measure up and need to be acquainted with our "Rule of Ten" that I mention so often.

Here it is:

Of course, this rule, like any general rule, has certain qualifications. You must learn how to calculate your ideal measurements from head to toe. And to know what steps to take to make your figure readjustments easiest.

When you measure, stand before a mirror and try your level best to place the measuring tape around the widest part of each area of the body (only exception is your waist measure. . . measure this where the waistline is the smallest). Send for a copy of my booklet, "Do You Measure Up?", addressing your request to me, in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For example: It doesn't necessarily follow that if weight and height are balanced, that your measurements will be ideal. You will learn how your frame structure influences the measurements you take. Figures change from generation to generation, but there is always an ideal to strive for—and today's is easy: a natural figure with curves nicely controlled.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Who of us can ever forget that historical and glorious photograph of the six Marines raising the American flag on Iwo Jima? One of those boys, an Indian, Ira Hayes, who held that flag, died tragically, not from an enemy but from well-meaning friends who celebrated Ira's victory too much.

Ed Muhl of Universal-International has bought the story of Ira Hayes, written by William Bradford Huie, and has turned it over to Sy Bartlett to produce as one of Sy's U-I pictures. As everyone knows, Sy is an expert on war tales having served himself all during the war. He would like to get Marlon Brando to play Hayes, but then it seems the whole motion picture world is after Marlon.

Checked with Inger Stevens on the story that her grandfather, Gustave Johnson, of Sweden, had left her a sizeable sum. She said it's true and the estate is now being settled and she has to go to Sweden.

"I leave Sunday for Colombo," she said. "For the film festival there."

Inger says her hair is growing out since she cut it so short for "Jovanka and the Others." She'll never again have short hair. She is still on suspension for refusing to be loaned by Paramount to MGM for 'Key Witness." "I am sorry about it,' she said, "but in justice to myself I couldn't play that girl's role. I told Paramount I would do TV or a bit in another picture and turn over the money to them. I hate being on suspension."

There was pride in Rory Calhoun's voice when he told me that his wife Lita Baron had substituted for Kipp Hamilton in two segments of "The Texan," his TV series. Said Rory, "You know Lita hasn't worked in about four years—not since our babies were born. We were really in a spot when Kipp telephoned that she had tonsilitis, with only a few hours notice, and couldn't do the shows.

"It was too late to line up another star, so I called Lita who agreed to come to the studio and take over. Now we are almost glad it all happened, because Lita is so good. Of course she's very experienced, having been in motion pictures and made nightclub appearances for so many years."

Tomorrow that threat to all the women—he's so attractive—Ingemar Johansson leaves Hollywood for a vacation in Switzerland. He's been staying at the Alan Ladd home and 12-year-old David Ladd is the envy of all his friends because for the past two weeks he has been receiving boxing instructions from the world heavyweight champ. Ingemar worked with Alan in "All the young men."

Before Johansson took off, Hall Bartlett, for whom he made "All the Young Men," asked him about making another picture. Ingemar, who likes being an actor, agreed.

I loved hearing the excitement in Ronald and Nancy Reagans' voices when they telephoned from the Royalhawaiian in Honolulu. After a rainy few days the sun was shining and they were having the time of their lives. Ronnie spoke at the General Electric convention—in fact, he and Nancy were sent there as representatives of GE.

They met my friend Gov. William Quinn and his wife Nancy and other of my friends who sent messages. They made the trip on the Lurline and they'll fly back to California next week.

The testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Tom Dooley on Wednesday, Nov. 18 at the Beverly Hills Hotel sounds better and better. The motion picture world, as well as social Los Angeles, wants to honor this great man whose courage in the face of serious illness is a lesson to all of us.

Irene Dunne is mistress of ceremonies and Hugh O'Brian is chairman of the entertainment committee. Robery Hardy Andrews, Princess Pignatelli, Mrs. Murray Ward, Mrs. Reese Milner and Mrs. Sven Lokrantz are hard working committee members. A feature of the evening will be Ann Blyth singing Paul Cunningham and Jimmy McHugh's new song, "Thank the Lord for This Thanksgiving Day."

Josh Logan called from New York to say that he has Bobby Darin signed to sing the title song in "Tall Story." Shelley Manne has written the music, while Dore Langdon is the lyricist.

Josh was very pleased about getting Bobby, whose "Mack, the Knife" has swept the country like a tornado. There's no doubt in the minds of those who study motion picture receipts at the boxoffice that a song under the title helps sell the picture.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I went steady with a boy two years. He was of a different religion and three years older.

On my 17th birthday my father promised me a college education if I would break up with Wally. I agreed.

To be honest, I'm happy I'm not going steady because I had been missing a lot of good times. I used to think I'd die if I didn't see Wally every night. Now I know I can live without him.

The trouble is my mother is so happy I'm not going steady that she's fixing me up with anyone and everyone. She has arranged blind dates with guys she has never seen. I've drawn some real spooks. I never know what will appear at the door and I'm sick of it.

She says it's good for a girl's personality to go with all sorts of fellows. I am fed up. Please help me. VICTIM.

DEAR VICTIM: Tell your mother you appreciate what she's trying to do BUT no future commitments, please.

Nothing is so unattractive (and damaging) as a mother who is pushing her daughter socially. I hope Mom will lay off.

DEAR ANN: Although we had to get married four years ago because I was pregnant, we made a good start and are happy. His parents are wonderful to me and his brother is a peach. The trouble is his sister, Amy, who is 30 and unmarried.

When I told him we had to marry in a hurry his major concern was "How will I tell Amy." (He never even mentioned his folks).

Whenever we plan a party he automatically includes Amy. On Sunday when we go to his folks' for dinner he sits with his arm around Amy and doesn't know I'm alive. When I complain he says I'm insecure and don't understand sister-brother devotion because I never had any brothers. Please tell me how to handle this. I feel as if I'm on thin ice. DISTURBED.

DEAR DISTURBED: When you can't beat 'em, you join 'em. You'll never break up this combination without doing irreparable damage to yourself. So be sweet to Amy, build her up, include her willingly, and tell your husband he has a great sister.

The friendly approach will build bridges instead of fences. You'll probably wind up genuinely liking Amy when she reacts favorably to your kindness.

DEAR ANN: I feel stupid asking this question because I should probably know the answer, but I don't.

My wife passed away two months ago. She was only 33. I took off my wedding band a few days after the funeral and it is still in my drawer.

A few days ago my wife's sister took me aside after church and said, "You could have waited at least until Mary's body was cold before you started to shop around for a new wife." I was shocked and asked her what she meant by that. She said I should still be wearing my wedding band, and she was hurt to see that I had taken it off so soon.

Is she right? Please tell me. I am — VERY DISTURBED.

DEAR DISTURBED: She was wrong and it was cruel of her to attack you in such a manner.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

When the bright lights of evening come — you'll not regret that your measurements tally with the RULE OF TEN.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Rule Of Ten

Neither movie stars nor models have perfect figures. Perfection is well-nigh impossible in the human form. But, if your figure isn't all it should be, and you practically "see" a guilty finger of suspicion pointing at you, maybe you don't measure up and need to be acquainted with our "Rule of Ten" that I mention so often.

Here it is:

Bust and hips measure the same. Waist measures ten inches smaller.

Of course, this rule, like any general rule, has certain qualifications. You must learn how to calculate your ideal measurements from head to toe. And to know what steps to take to make your figure readjustments easiest.

When you measure, stand before a mirror and try your level best to place the measuring tape around the widest part of each area of the body (only exception is your waist measure. . . measure this where the waistline is the smallest). Send for a copy of my booklet, "Do You Measure Up?", addressing your request to me, in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

You will learn from the above booklet many important facts. For example: It doesn't necessarily follow that if weight and height are balanced, that your measurements will be ideal. You will learn how your frame structure influences the measurements you take. Figures change from generation to generation, but there is always an ideal to strive for—and today's is easy: a natural figure with curves nicely controlled.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved father, Henry P. Wagoner, who passed away 1 year ago Nov. 7, 1958.

This year has seemed but just a day,
Since God suddenly called you away,
A beautiful life that came to an end.
You died as you lived, everyone's friend.
Only God knows the inward pain,
That being without you has caused.
Never shall your memories fade,
Until we are joined together again
In God's beautiful Heaven above.

Very sadly missed by his daughter Mildred, son-in-law George, and two grandsons, George and Randy.

VAN METER FAMILIES.

We take this means of thanking our friends and relatives who were so kind to us during are recent bereavement, the death of our Mother. We especially wish to thank Rev. Tate, Midland Assembly, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, those who sent floral tributes, those who sent sympathy cards and the pallbearers.

Lewis and William Cecil and wife.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved father, Henry P. Wagoner, who passed away 1 year ago Nov. 7, 1958.

This year has seemed but just a day,
Since God suddenly called you away,
A beautiful life that came to an end.
You died as you lived, everyone's friend.
Only God knows the inward pain,
That being without you has caused,
Never shall your memories fade,
Until we are joined together again
In God's beautiful Heaven above.

Very sadly missed by his daughter Mildred, son-in-law George, and two grandsons, George and Randy.

Nitro Caps Stolen

SALISBURY (AP) — State police were trying to track down two boxes of nitroglycerin caps reported stolen from a shed in a Newark, Md., firehouse.

The caps are used in a special gun to fire nails into wood. While they looked like 22 caliber shells, officers said, they must be used only in the special guns. Used in a 22 caliber rifle, they would explode the gun, they said.

Nitro Caps Stolen

SALISBURY (AP) — State police were trying to track down two boxes of nitroglycerin caps reported stolen from a shed in a Newark, Md., firehouse.

The caps are used in a special gun to fire nails into wood. While they looked like 22 caliber shells, officers said, they must be used only in the special guns. Used in a 22 caliber rifle, they would explode the gun, they said.

Rails, Selected Issues Lead Stock Market Higher

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rails and selected issues led the stock market into higher ground despite the late profit-taking that hit many issues around their highs.

The market started active and firm and built up its gains steadily until late selling forced it to settle somewhat below the day's best levels.

The market broadened to 1,200 issues traded. 15 more than the previous session. Of these, advances outnumbered declines 611 to 384, while 225 held unchanged. New lows again were relatively numerous at 36, compared with 22 at new highs.

Steels registered gains running to more than a point in Allegheny Ludlum, Granite City, Republic and U.S. Steel. Youngstown tacked on a large fraction.

In the metals, Kaiser Aluminum and Magma ran up 2 or better and Reynolds 1⅜. Curtiss-Wright featured in the aircrafts with a rise of 2, and North American and Martin with gains of a point or more each. Texaco eased and Standard of California added a point in a generally mixed oil division.

Rails had several gains running to more than a point and one—Western Maryland—up 3 points.

American Motors eased in the autos in heavy trading; while Chrysler ran up more than 1, Ford ⅞ and Studebaker-Packard ¼. General Motors trading ex-dividend firmed.

Motorola, down 4 to 122, and Texas Instruments up 6 to 160¾, featured a strong electronics section.

Metals and space issues led stocks irregularly higher in active dealings on the American Exchange Friday, but wide irregularity developed in specialties.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye and oats were lower, but other grains rallied to close higher Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was up ⅛ to ½; corn off ¼ to up ½; oats unchanged to off ¾; rye off ¼ to ¾; and soybeans up ½ to 1⅜.

The wheat trade was light, but the market held firm through the session. Mills and floor traders were early buyers. Selling was scattered. Vietnam was reported to have bought nearly 100,000 cwts. of flour from west coast mills.

The corn market quieted down after an active start. Prices were firm. Commercial interests sold early, and local selling followed. Spot corn was firm. More favorable weather was predicted for harvesting operations. Export subsidies were granted on 646,000 bushels of corn.

Oats declined under liquidating pressure and stop loss selling. The volume, however, was not large.

Rye was also easier under liquidation. The Winnipeg market was weak.

Soybeans rallied near the close on short covering. Northwest houses sold January and March, while some commercial houses bought. Some of the selling was regarded as profit-taking.

Export circles reported the United Kingdom bought a little corn. No other exports were reported.

Rails, Selected Issues Lead Stock Market Higher

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rails and selected issues led the stock market into higher ground despite the late profit-taking that hit many issues around their highs.

Traders, anticipating an early end to the steel strike, bid up stocks in most sections on increased volume.

Turnover expanded to 3,450,000 shares from 3,170,000 shares the day before.

The market started active and firm and built up its gains steadily until late selling forced it to settle somewhat below the day's best levels.

The market broadened to 1,200 issues traded. 15 more than the previous session. Of these, advances outnumbered declines 611 to 384, while 225 held unchanged. New lows again were relatively numerous at 36, compared with 22 at new highs.

Glen Alden was the most active issue traded with 89,600 shares, while American Motors ran a close second with 81,100. Following in the top five were Electric & Musical Industries, Alleghany Corp., and Studebaker-Packard.

In the metals, Kaiser Aluminum and Magma ran up 2 or better and Reynolds 1⅜. Curtiss-Wright featured in the aircrafts with a rise of 2, and North American and Martin with gains of a point or more each. Texaco eased and Standard of California added a point in a generally mixed oil division.

Rails had several gains running to more than a point and one—Western Maryland—up 3 points.

American Motors eased in the autos in heavy trading; while Chrysler ran up more than 1, Ford ⅞ and Studebaker-Packard ¼. General Motors trading ex-dividend firmed.

Motorola, down 4 to 122, and Texas Instruments up 6 to 160¾, featured a strong electronics section.

Metals and space issues led stocks irregularly higher in active dealings on the American Exchange Friday, but wide irregularity developed in specialties.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye and oats were lower, but other grains rallied to close higher Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was up ⅛ to ½; corn off ¼ to up ½; oats unchanged to off ¾; rye off ¼ to ¾; and soybeans up ½ to 1⅜.

The wheat trade was light, but the market held firm through the session. Mills and floor traders were early buyers. Selling was scattered. Vietnam was reported to have bought nearly 100,000 cwts. of flour from west coast mills.

The corn market quieted down after an active start. Prices were firm. Commercial interests sold early, and local selling followed. Spot corn was firm. More favorable weather was predicted for harvesting operations. Export subsidies were granted on 646,000 bushels of corn.

Oats declined under liquidating pressure and stop loss selling. The volume, however, was not large.

Rye was also easier under liquidation. The Winnipeg market was weak.

Soybeans rallied near the close on short covering. Northwest houses sold January and March, while some commercial houses bought. Some of the selling was regarded as profit-taking.

Export circles reported the United Kingdom bought a little corn. No other exports were reported.

Headon Crash Kills One Man At Clearville

Driver Expires After Collision

Leo D. Goodrich, 61, of RD 2, Clearville, Pa., south of Everett in Bedford County, was killed yesterday morning in a two-car headon collision 10 miles south of Crystal Spring on State Route 126.

Injured in the crash were Ormond McDaniel, 59, of Meadville, Pa., and his 52-year-old wife, Margaret McDaniel, who were admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital at Everett.

Mr. McDaniel, who sustained fractures of both legs, multiple lacerations of his legs and face was reported in "fair" condition last night.

His wife, who sustained multiple lacerations of her face and both legs, was reported in "satisfactory" condition. Police said a third passenger in the McDaniel car who was riding in the back seat was not hurt.

Authorities, who are continuing the investigation, said that Mr. Goodrich died about five minutes after the accident occurred at 10:55 a.m. near the Bedford County-Fulton County line.

Mr. Goodrich, who was operating a car north on Route 126, died of a crushed chest, authorities said. The other vehicle driven by Mr. McDaniel was traveling south on the highway.

Educator Tells State PTA Teaching Is Full-Time Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland educator said Friday there is a widespread but incorrect "assumption that teaching is a part-time job."

"It is a full-time job," Dr. C. Taylor Whittier told Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers delegates, "and we should pay accordingly."

Whittier, superintendent of schools in Montgomery County, was a panel participant on the concluding day of the two-day congress in the Lord Baltimore hotel.

Pay Increase

Dr. William G. Hollister of Bethesda, mental health chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said causes of the morale drop include increased pressures on the teacher from within the profession and from the home. More is expected of them by parents and by education officials, he suggested.

He also said teaching morale has declined because the behavior of today's children is more difficult and salaries are not high enough.

The panel came on the heels of a Thursday night session in which the organization adopted a resolution backing teacher demands for an increase from $3,200-$5,000 to $4,000-$6,000 in the present State-guaranteed minimum pay scale for teachers.

$15 Million Cost

A committee of the Legislative Council, interim screening branch of the General Assembly, noted last week that this would cost the State 15 million dollars in the first year of the increase. The committee, headed by Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), pointed out that counties have added various amounts to the State-guaranteed minimum so that in no county does a starting teacher actually receive less than $3,500 a year.

The James committee recommended that the scale to be at $3,500 to $5,300, which would cost an estimated 5 million dollars.

Last month, the big permit was for an $85,000 store building along National Highway in LaVale. Only 11 of the 30 October permits were for construction costing above $1,000.

Nine of the 30 October permits were for new dwellings. Four called for construction of garages, three each were for additions to dwellings and to enclose porches. There also were two for liveable basements, and one each for an outdoor toilet, garage and storage, cow shed, housing for livestock, building for machinery, living quarters, septic tank and apartment and garage.

When the jurors reached their verdict after about two hours deliberation, Vernon E. Rankin, attorney for the defendant, made a motion that the verdict be set aside and asked for a new trial.

Judge Ernest A. See, who presided at the trial, deferred sentencing Smith who could be sentenced to one to five years in the West Virginia Penitentiary or be jailed or fined on the charge of unlawful assault.

Smith, who was charged with wounding Lewis Llewellyn, 26, and Preston Miller, 21, both also of RD 1, Ridgeley, testified yesterday that the two young men had caused extensive damage to his property in the past. Mrs. Smith corroborated her husband's testimony.

Miller and Llewellyn also were recalled to testify, during which they denied having caused any damage. The shooting took place last September 15 when the two men attempted to cross Smith's property while en route to work.

Educator Tells State PTA Teaching Is Full-Time Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland educator said Friday there is a widespread but incorrect "assumption that teaching is a part-time job."

"It is a full-time job," Dr. C. Taylor Whittier told Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers delegates, "and we should pay accordingly."

Whittier, superintendent of schools in Montgomery County, was a panel participant on the concluding day of the two-day congress in the Lord Baltimore hotel.

Pay Increase

Whittier proposed a pay increase as one of several remedies for what another panelist described as "a decline in teacher morale."

Dr. William G. Hollister of Bethesda, mental health chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said causes of the morale drop include increased pressures on the teacher from within the profession and from the home. More is expected of them by parents and by education officials, he suggested.

He also said teaching morale has declined because the behavior of today's children is more difficult and salaries are not high enough.

The panel came on the heels of a Thursday night session in which the organization adopted a resolution backing teacher demands for an increase from $3,200-$5,000 to $4,000-$6,000 in the present State-guaranteed minimum pay scale for teachers.

$15 Million Cost

A committee of the Legislative Council, interim screening branch of the General Assembly, noted last week that this would cost the State 15 million dollars in the first year of the increase. The committee, headed by Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), pointed out that counties have added various amounts to the State-guaranteed minimum so that in no county does a starting teacher actually receive less than $3,500 a year.

The James committee recommended that the scale to be at $3,500 to $5,300, which would cost an estimated 5 million dollars.

Mrs. Fred L. Bull, legislative chairman of the Maryland PTA group, called the committee's recommendation inadequate.
